Church Has Plans To Restore Well; Found by Accident

Discovered by Workmen Under Stone Slab While Moving Memorial

A long forgotten well was uncovered in the yard of the Old Dutch Church in Kingston when workmen moved a stone memorial to two of the nation's Revolutionary War residents.

Measured this week, the well is 24 feet deep and contains five feet of water. Its walls, three feet in diameter, are completely laid up with limestone and are in apparently near-perfect condition.

Hidden under a bluestone slab for perhaps a century, the well's existence was unknown to present members of the church.

Its discovery has led the church consistory and its pastor, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, to begin inquiries into the well's history, its use, and when it was covered.

The consistory has already approved plans to restore the top of the well to its original form, when further research and perhaps the advice of an architect discloses what type of well covering was used in those days.

New Point of Interest

Its restoration is planned to add another point of interest to the church grounds. The congregation was organized in 1659 and has held regular services on or near to the present location since that date. The present building was constructed in 1852.

The well was covered with a plain bluestone slab. Resting horizontally, like a table, on four corner posts above the slab was the memorial to Johannes G. Hardenburgh and his wife, who was Cornelia Dubois.

The inscription reads: "Memory of Johannes G. Hardenburgh, Esq., who departed this life April 10th, 1812, aged 80 years, 9 mos. and 17 da. Also Cornelia Dubois, his wife, who departed this life May 10th, 1819, aged 82 yrs., 5 mo. and 24 da. They lived as they died. They died as they lived. In the fear of the Lord."

According to the inscription, Hardenburgh would have been born in June of 1731, making him not quite a year older than George Washington, first president of the country.

It is believed that the Hardenburghs originally were buried elsewhere and the stone was moved to the Old Dutch Church yard at a later date.

Covered When Mains Laid

It is thought likely that the well was covered shortly after the installation of water mains in the cemetery.

Hundreds Report Seeing Sky Saucers

South-Central Sector of State Is Disturbed by 2-Hour Spectre

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (P)—Hundreds of New Yorkers reported sighting "flying saucers" in the sunny skies over the state's south-central portion yesterday.

But jet flyers aloft from Griffiss Air Force Base at Rome said they could see nothing of the reported squadron of gleitering objects.

Residents of Afton, in Chenango county, poured into the streets and many business places were emptied. The watchers said round objects sailed through the skies in large numbers for about two hours. Scattered ones were reported later. Everyone agreed that the objects seemed to come into sight near the sun and move away from it.

Reports 75 Objects

Nineteen miles north, several hundred employees of the Scintilla Magneto plant in Sidney knocked off to take a peek. One worker, Irving Parsons of Oneonta, said he saw 60 to 75 objects shaped like "ping-pong balls" moving very high.

At Otsego, 20 miles northeast of Sidney, Walden Snelson of Lincoln Park, N. J., said a large crowd watched the heavens for an hour and saw five or six "very bright discs."

The first flash apparently came from a member of the Ground Observer Corps at Elmira. Mrs. Charlotte Blodgett of Horseheads said she sighted mysterious objects about 10 a. m. and described them to the filter center in Syracuse as "disc-shaped and shiny, with what appeared to be a blister or small rounded spot on the side."

Larry Murphy, a reporter for the Elmira Advertiser, said he saw three shaped like pancakes. Hundreds of calls were received at the Advertiser and the Elmira Star-Gazette.

Other Reports

Reports of the flying phenomenon also came from the western and eastern parts of the state. Three pilots who were on the runway at Batavia airport said they spotted gleaming objects that were so high the shapes could not be determined.

At Albany, several persons said they saw silvery apparitions in the sky shortly before dark.

Police Seek Two Escapees In Kidnaping, Robbery, Rape

New York, Aug. 2 (P)—Police sought two escapees from a mental institution last night both for the kidnaping and robbery of a young Brooklyn physician and the rape of an 11-year-old girl.

The girl was raped in her Brooklyn home early Wednesday morning by two young men, one a Negro, while the girl's mother and eight-year-old brother slept in different rooms.

The girl was threatened with a knife and a towel was held over her mouth.

A knife was used again yesterday to menace the physician, Dr. Alfredo Reyes, 30, in the parking lot behind St. John's Episcopal Hospital in Brooklyn.

While a young Negro wielded the knife, a white man held a length of rubber hose with a metal attachment.

They forced the doctor to enter his car with them. The white youth drove.

The Negro took the physician's billfold containing $4 and his wrist watch as the car moved through the streets.

They dumped the physician, wrapped in a blanket, in an isolated section of Canarsie, then drove off in the doctor's 1952 car.

The car was still missing last night.

Dr. Reyes, unharmed, said the white man was slim and about five feet nine inches tall, the Negro six feet tall and of medium build.

Police said the descriptions matched those of two men who escaped Monday from Matteawan

New High Is Seen in Cost This Month

Price Stabilizer Arnall Says Rising Prices Are Plain to Be Seen in Nation's Living

Inflation Problem

Economic Boss Blames 82nd Congress for Crippling Controls

Washington, Aug. 2 (P)—Government stabilization chiefs look for the over-all cost of living to hit another new high later this month.

"The ugly picture of rising prices is plain to anyone with a desire to see it," Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said.

His comment last night followed a Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) report that food prices have climbed to a new record—up 1.2 per cent for the two week period ended July 15 and almost 16 per cent above June 1950 when the Korean fighting began. Food makes up about a third of the average urban family's budget.

Blames 82nd Congress

Republicans were blamed by Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam.

"There's no question that the cost of living is going to rise somewhat and that the 82nd Congress (only recently adjourned) did curb our program," Putnam said in a radio broadcast (CBS).

"There's just no question that the Republican party was voting to cripple controls. The Democrats were fighting to keep the power of controls where they're needed."

Arnall said the BLS report reveals that inflation still is a problem and that prices generally can be expected to move up.

The record food prices, Arnall said, still do not reflect effects of the decontrol of fruits and vegetables voted recently by Congress and the extensive drouth which is damaging crops in the south and New England.

Big Defense Cost Boost

Meanwhile, government officials estimated that increased ceiling prices on aluminum scheduled to be ordered Monday will boost national defense costs by from 15 to 20 million dollars.

Arnall's previous estimate that the recent increase in steel prices will add $100 a year to the average living cost of the American family was challenged by Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corporation, the country's fifth largest steel producer.

Weir said in a statement at Pittsburgh that Arnall's estimate was "absolutely untrue." He said that if the industry operates at capacity during the next 12 months, the actual price increase on steel will be "only about $10 per family per year spread over automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators, tin cans and everything else made of steel that the family buys."

Richard Brown Dies

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 2 (P)—Richard Brown, 80, business manager of the Poughkeepsie Evening Star and Enterprise and vice president of the Poughkeepsie Evening Star and Enterprise and vice president of the Poughkeepsie Publishing Corporation for many years, died at his home here today.

The newspaper and publishing corporation were forerunners of the Poughkeepsie Newspapers Inc., which publishes the Poughkeepsie New Yorker. Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Poughkeepsie. His widow, Mrs. Anna Mae Brown, survives.

No Grants Yet

Thus far, the federal government has made no outright grants of financial aid. The disaster loans for the purchase of livestock feed and for planting of new crops and the like must be repaid by the farmers in one to five years with three per cent interest.

Hutchinson said the intensity of agricultural destruction in the drouth regions is a major blow to the nation's total crop production.

"The outlook in the area for the next 12 months is very, very distressing," he said.

The Weather Bureau offered little hope for an early break in the drouth. In its 30-day outlook for August it said temperatures in the deep south will be slightly hotter than usual and rainfall "will not generally exceed seasonal normals."

Reports from the southern drouth area indicated severe losses in corn, truck and garden crops and pastures. Tobacco production was estimated off as much as 30 per cent in some localities and cotton is suffering.

Riot Squads Alert

Berlin, Aug. 2 (P)—West Berlin police today alerted riot squads to combat a planned invasion of Western sectors by thousands of fanatical Communist youths.

The Communist press has egged on the Red Free German Youth (FDJ) to rush to West Berlin tomorrow to "demonstrate we are for peace."

In whipping up enthusiasm, the Communists have recalled the bloody street fights on the boundaries a year ago in which more than 300 persons were injured. Western authorities already have banned the demonstration, scheduled to be held in a city park in the British sector, but the Communists claim they have not been told of the prohibition.

DuMond Is Named To Farmers Home Advisory Group

Committee Will Certify to Value of Property and to Eligibility of Applicants

F. A. Norman, county supervisor for the United States Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration, today announced the appointment of C. Chester DuMond, Jr. of Ulster Park, as a member of the Ulster County Farmers Home Administration Advisory Committee.

Each county in which the Farmers Home Administration operates has a committee of three members of which at least two must be farmers residing on and operating their farms. These committees certify as to the eligibility of applicants for loans, certify to the value of farms upon which real estate loans may be made, and make recommendations to the county supervisor as to the soundness of farm plans, the need for disaster loans and changes in the Farmers Home Administration program to meet the needs of the farmers in the county.

The other members of the Ulster County Farmers Home Administration committee are Frank Aldrich, Lake Katrine, and Edward M. Wood, Milton, The Kingston office at 25 East O'Reilly street, serving the counties of Dutchess, Greene, Sullivan and Ulster, has received an allotment of $40,000 for the making of operating loans to new applicants.

Operating loans are made for the purchase of seed, feed, fertilizer, livestock, farm and home equipment and minor repairs and improvements to real estate.

Insured Mortgages

New York state has received authority to process and insure up to $424,295, insured mortgage loans for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953. These loans can be made to tenant farmers to purchase a family type farm and to farm owners to improve or enlarge a farm. The funds for insured mortgage loans have to be made available by local banks, insurance companies, local associations.

Truman Will Talk But Awaits Sign From Stevenson

Chairman McKinney Not Certain How Long He'll Direct Democrats

Kansas City, Aug. 2 (P)—President Truman left it clear today that he is leaving 1952 Democratic campaign strategy up to Adlai Stevenson, the new presidential nominee.

Truman is ready and willing to stump the country in his "give 'em hell" fashion of 1948. But he is awaiting the signals from the Illinois governor.

This conclusion was drawn by reporters after Truman and Frank E. McKinney, the Democratic national chairman, met for an hour last night over a dinner table in the presidential suite at Hotel Muehlebach.

McKinney and his wife drove to the Truman quarters when they took advantage of a two-hour layover in their flight from Indianapolis to Colorado Springs for a vacation of a week.

"We abstained from talking politics," McKinney told reporters afterwards. "It was entirely a social visit. I am on a vacation and the President is enjoying a rest here."

Won't Even Speculate

McKinney wouldn't even speculate on how long he will remain as Democratic national chairman.

"That all depends," he said, making it clear that he meant it depends on Stevenson who has asked him to stay on temporarily.

And he added that he did not "choose" to continue indefinitely, believing Stevenson is "entitled to his own chairman."

Word that McKinney and his wife were en route here came from Presidential Secretary Joseph Short only a couple of hours before their arrival. While Short said he couldn't imagine the President and McKinney meeting in August without talking over campaign plans, he emphasized Truman's attitude in these words:

"You understand, however, the candidate for president is Governor Stevenson and it is his campaign."

Truman is flying back to Washington Tuesday morning after he votes in the Missouri Democratic primary.

Coast Guard Sights 'Unknown Objects'

This photo released by the Coast Guard was snapped by one of their photographers through a window screen when he sighted four "unknown objects" (upper right) over the Salem, Mass., Air Station. The round objects, which the Coast Guard would not refer to as "flying saucers," appear in "V" formation, with extending bars of light. (NEA Telephoto).

Peace Is Considered Major Issue

Eisenhower Conference With Party Leaders Called Master Stroke in Creating Harmony

Ike Main Boss

Politics Are Out for Two Speeches to Veterans at Conventions

Denver, Aug. 2 (P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, was credited by his running mate today with having done "a beautiful job of assuring harmony" between professional and amateur politicians backing the Republican ticket.

Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, the party's candidate for vice president, told a reporter the general's handling of a conference of campaign leaders "left no doubt in my mind that we are all going to be pulling together."

Eisenhower and Nixon conferred with more than a score of their campaign strategists for two and a half hours late yesterday after the general told a news conference:

"I believe development of a sound program for world peace overrides all the issues of the presidential campaign. He made that reply when asked for comment on a statement by his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, that foreign policy is the principal issue."

Will Wage Strong Fight

2. He and Nixon will wage an intensive, fighting campaign in all "the nooks and crannies of the United States." The general said he plans to start his whistle stop tour about Sept. 1.

3. The advice of political advisers will get top consideration, but "there can be no boss of this campaign" other than Eisenhower himself. The party assigned him that responsibility, the general said, and he intends to meet it.

4. It is just as important for the Republicans to take over control of Congress from the Democrats in November as it is, Eisenhower said, for the party to win the presidency.

5. All GOP nominees for Congress will have the general's support, but that doesn't necessarily mean he will agree with each one on all the issues.

6. Speeches he will make, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars annual encampment in Los Angeles next Tuesday and at the American Legion national convention in New York Aug. 25, will be absolutely non-political. He said he would be among old comrades in arms, some of them Democrats and some Republicans, and that politics would be out of order.

Manager Speaks

Arthur E. Summerfield, the new chairman of the Republican National Committee and Eisenhower's campaign manager, said after yesterday's strategy conference that it dealt almost entirely with plans for continuing the National

Strike Threat Said to Stem From '50 Grievance on Work Rules

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington today reporting that railroad unions had authorized a Sunday morning walkout of all operating employees of the New York Central Railroad lines east of Buffalo came as news to local union leaders, a check by The Freeman this morning disclosed.

Frank J. Moore, chairman of the Kingston Lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said that he had received no information or instruction in regard to such a walkout. He pointed out that such a walkout, should it materialize, would affect the local New York Central system.

Mentions Closed Shop

C. O. Davis, secretary of the lodge, said that he hadn't heard anything but that there had recently been a controversy concerning the closed shop. The Freeman was unable to reach Gustave Kogel of the local Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. No statement was available from local management.

J. P. Shields, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, confirmed from Cleveland that he was notified of the scheduled walkout in a telegram from local union leaders in New York. He told a reporter he is against a strike on such short notice.

Favor Mediators

In Syracuse, a spokesman for one railroad brotherhood, who asked that his name not be used, said the strike tentatively scheduled for Sunday would be postponed 72 hours, until Wednesday morning. This, he said, would be done as a courtesy to the National Mediation Board since its offices are closed for the weekend.

City Chinese Cook Faces Deportation

Leung Bun, 31, local Chinese cook, was picked up last night by U. S. Border Patrol authorities who charged that he entered this country illegally more than 10 years ago.

Bun, a respected member of the community and well known to connoisseurs of Chinese food, had been employed at the Kingston Tea Garden, 304 Wall street, since 1942, his employer said today. His arrest on the old charge, apparently, came as a complete surprise to his associates.

Charged with violation of the Immigration Act of 1924, Bun was held overnight at the county jail, and was turned over this morning to Thomas J. Cronin of the U. S. Border Patrol. Cronin indicated that Bun, a native of China, had "jumped ship" to become a resident of this country. If found guilty, he faces possible deportation proceedings.

Man Killed, Other Wounded By Auto Theft Plotters

New York, Aug. 2 (P)—A 22-year-old man was shot and killed and his father-in-law was wounded early today as one of two would-be car thieves, frightened by the screams of the men's wives, fired three shots at point-blank range.

Dead after the shooting, in a parked auto in the Bronx, was William Hopkins of Brooklyn. His father-in-law, Alfred McCullaugh, 50, of (2805 Creston avenue) the Bronx, was wounded in the ear.

Police picked up an unidentified youth on the roof of a building near the shooting scene and were holding him for questioning.

McCullaugh told police this story:

"He, Hopkins and their wives had just returned from an outing at Rye Beach. Hopkins had parked his car and was with the women as McCullaugh was locking up his auto."

Two men approached, one on each side of McCullaugh's car. One said, "all right, we're taking over. Get back in the car."

McCullaugh got into the front seat followed by one of the men. The other man got in the rear seat. The Hopkinses and Mrs. McCullaugh noticed the two men entering the car.

Hopkins ran back to investigate and was told at gunpoint to get in the back of the car.

The man in front then said, "let's get going."

McCullaugh had trouble starting his car. The women ran up, saw what was happening and started to scream.

Flying Saucers Are Back; Radar Man Tells How He Tracked Them

Saw Six Objects Over Washington

By HARRY G. BARNES
Written for NEA Service

Washington—(NEA)—Shortly after midnight on July 19 Ed Nugent called me over to the radar scope and laughingly said: "Here's a fleet of flying saucers for you."

As it turns out, Ed could very well have been stating an absolute fact.

I am senior air route traffic controller for the Civil Aeronautics Administration and am in charge of the air route traffic control center that particular night at National Airport. Briefly part of our job is to constantly monitor the skies around the nation's capital with the electronic eye of radar for purposes of controlling air traffic.

Our shift had been on duty about 40 minutes. Eight men were on this particular shift. It was a normal night for both flying and weather. The sky was cloudless, traffic was light, as usual for that period. I think those facts are important in connection with what came later.

The "thing" which caused Ed to call me over to the scope were seven pips clustered together regularly in one corner. The scope is 24 inches in diameter and the pips show up as pale violet spots. Ordinarily they represent aircraft in the air. The radar we were using is a 70-mile radius.

The seven pips indicated that the objects, or whatever they were, were in the air over an area about nine miles in diameter, 15 miles south-southwest of Washington. We knew immediately that a very strange situation existed. First, from all the reports we had at hand, we knew that the spots were not aircraft—at least not friendly aircraft.

That left three possibilities, enemy aircraft, some unexplained flying objects or something wrong with the radar. We tracked the seven pips for about five minutes and quickly determined that they were moving between 100 and 130 miles per hour while we could observe them.

But their movements were completely radical compared to those of ordinary aircraft. They followed no set course, were not in any formation, and we only seemed to be able to track them for about three miles at a time.

The individual pip would seem to disappear from the scope at intervals. Later I realized that if these objects had made any sudden burst of extremely high speed, they would account for the disappearing from the scope temporarily. Our radar is only designed to track known types of aircraft or objects in the air at speeds known to all of us.

After five minutes of watching the strange pips, I asked Jim Copeland and Jim Ritchey, two experienced radar controllers, to check our observations. They confirmed our findings. Then I called the airport control tower to see what the radar showed there. The radar operator verified the same thing instantly.

At this time I notified the Air Force of our observation. This is a regular procedure, and we are not at liberty to explain it in detail. But we kept the Air Force informed of subsequent observations which continued for approximately the next six hours, until after daylight when we were no longer distinguishing the objects from other aircraft.

Early Sunday morning is an especially busy time for both private flying and military reserve flying. Before notifying the Air Force of our findings, our technicians had carefully checked the equipment to make certain that it was operating perfectly.

These are the important events of the next six hours:

During the first hour the objects had moved over all sectors of our scope. That meant that they had been over the restricted areas of Washington including the White House and Capitol.

At the first opportunity Ritchey contacted Capital Airline pilot Captain S. C. Pieman, a veteran of 17 years of flying. Shortly after taking off, Ritchey asked Pieman to look for the objects we were watching on the scope. He agreed to do this.

All of a sudden his voice came over the radio, which we could all hear with the words:

"There's one, and there it goes." He described it as just a bright light, moving faster than a shooting star at times.

His subsequent descriptions of the movements of the objects coincided with the position of our pips at all times while in our range.

During the next 14 minutes he reported that he saw six such lights. He said they had no tail, no recognizable shape and were just bright lights in the dark sky.

Each sighting coincided with a pip we could see near his plane. When he reported that the light streaked off at high speed, it disappeared on our scope, for the apparent reason I cited.

While he was giving us reports of his sightings, he was on a course from Herndon, Va., to Martinsburg, W. Va.

Some of the other pilots we contacted reported that they were unable to see the objects. I had the distinct feeling that some of them were just unwilling to discuss the subject over the radio.

However, one other commercial pilot did flatly confirm seeing a light off his left wing which we saw as a pip on the scope. He was coming in for his landing and the tower scope reported the same radar sighting. The light disappeared on our scope and from his view about four miles before he touched his wheels down.

During the whole period of observation we could detect no pattern to the movement of these objects. However, they did seem to become most active around the planes we saw on the scope. We did not see the pips in any recognizable formation at any time.

The radar we were using does not show altitude and it is faintly possible that the objects could have been in a vertical formation without our recognizing it.

At one time toward daybreak we counted 10 objects over Andrews Field, just outside of Washington. We sighted seven originally. Most of the time we could count eight of them.

The only recognizable behavior pattern which occurred to me from watching the pips was that they acted like a bunch of small kids out playing. It was hither and yon, as if directed by some innate curiosity. At times they moved as a group or cluster. Other times as individuals over widely scattered areas.

Other than some information in connection with our communications with the Air Force, which is classified, the above is a complete factual description of the important events which took place during those six hours. These facts I have set forth in my official report to CAA.

Speaking personally, and not officially for CAA, I would like to make these additional comments:

Radar is strictly an electronics device. It has no imagination. It reports only what it "sees." The equipment used in perfect operation does not direct that period.

There is no other conclusion I can reach but that for six hours on the morning of the 20th of July there were at least 10 unidentified objects moving above Washington. They were not ordinary aircraft. I could tell that by their movement on the scope.

I can safely deduce that they performed gyrations which no known aircraft could perform. By this I mean that our scope showed that they could make right angle turns and complete reversals of flight.

Nor in my opinion could any natural phenomena such as shooting stars, electrical disturbances or clouds account for these spots on our radar.

Exactly what they are? I don't know. You now know as much about them as I do. And your guess is as good as mine.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Unusual Bidding Made a Fine Score

the best road to game. He therefore rebid his moth-eaten suit.

West opened the deuce of clubs, and Chanin saw that dummy's spade support was far from robust. To draw trumps in the normal way might well give the opponents enough trump tricks to defeat the contract. Chanin therefore decided to cash his top cards and cross-ruff.

He won the first trick with the ace of clubs, crossed to the ace of diamonds, cashed the king and jack of clubs, and ruffed a diamond in dummy. He next cashed the ace and king of hearts and ruffed a heart in his own hand.

Another diamond ruff in dummy provided the ninth trick and reduced East to four trumps. When another heart was now led from dummy, East could do nothing to defeat the contract.

Actually, East ruffed low, and Chanin won his tenth trick by over-ruffing with the nine. The defenders could not be prevented from taking the last three tricks, but Chanin had already made his game.

Carpet Strike Ends

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—A nine-week strike, which company officials said cost some 4,000 workers 2 million dollars in wages, ended last night at the Alexander Smith, Inc., carpet mills. The work stoppage was brought to an end by employee acceptance of wage increases ranging from nine to 10 cents an hour plus improvements in hospital, vacation and sick leave provisions of the union-company contract. The workers' age members of the CIO Textile Workers Union. They approved the strike-ending company offer at a mass meeting.

Counts on Volunteers

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—Mayor Donald W. Kramer today considered use of volunteers if the city's 300 police and firemen all quit at once. The forces announced yesterday they would resign unless city council gave them a $500-a-year pay raise.

Appeals to Mayor In Garment Strike

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Picket line violence and a complaint of death threats yesterday marked the fourth day of an AFL drive to organize non-union shops in Manhattan's seething garment area.

An appeal for intervention by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri was made by a non-union leader in the clothing industry who said he had received telephone threats on his life.

Police reported a union picket pulled a non-union delivery truck driver from the cab of his vehicle and beat him on the head.

They arrested the picket Harold Miller, 22, on an assault charge on the complaint of truck driver Arthur Saunders, 30, of South Water street, Newburgh.

A dozen extra patrolmen, four mounted police and detectives were concentrated in the area where the alleged assault occurred.

The report of death threats was made by Hyman Deutchman, treasurer of the Independent Association of Women's Garment Manufacturers, Inc.

Cites Threat on Life
Deutchman told police that three Thursday and once yesterday a male voice said to him over the telephone, "If you don't stop, we'll kill you."

The AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union is conducting what it called an "organizational strike," concentrating on about 55 non-union shops. Three thousand union members were picketing.

Deutchman sent a telegram to the mayor asking him to "curb" these forces which are tending to intimidate men and women in their legal rights to earn a living.

Sanitary Features Stressed in Latest Garbage Grinders

THE CHEYENNE

Grind it, shred it, pulverize it. That's the way more and more garbage is being handled every day. The growing popularity of electric garbage disposal units was in full evidence at the recent National Plumbing and Heating Exposition in Chicago.

Seven manufacturers displayed various types and models of garbage disposal units. Regardless of the particular make or model of these appliances, they are all labor savers and they all claim many healthful advantages, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries.

Electric garbage disposal units reduce the possibility of diseases spread by rodents and insects since no garbage is collected in cans or bags. Furthermore, mechanical garbage grinders are self-cleaning and therefore eliminate odors or vegetable deterioration around the sink.

Electric garbage grinders will fit most sinks. All have safety devices, as for example, a cover over the drain without which the unit will not operate. This device forestalls the possibility of accidents caused by a youngster's curiosity. Waste disposal units will not only grind up garbage but they will also handle bones, cellophane, paper, coffee grinds, and all other kitchen waste.

Sturdy Foundations Are Needed for Good Homes

A good house has well-built walls and footings, sturdy frame construction, sound and attractive doors, good plumbing and heating installations and good electric wiring, according to the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The foundation has to bear the weight of the house, and should be well built. Good walls are also essential. It is better to forego temporarily some of the mechanical helps, appliances or decorative effects and put the money into sound foundations and walls.

Some Color Schemes For the Dining Room

If you want to get away from traditional color schemes in your dining room, one decorator suggests the use of blue-green and ivory with antique red mahogany furniture, cherry and soft gray with dark brown walnut furniture, and practically any tints of your choice if your furniture has a blond finish. With pickled pine or maple furniture, grayed blues or greens are suggested. Each dining room should be carefully studied before the final selection of colors is made.

Fireplace Brick Can Be Cleaned by Brush

Smoked and sooty brickwork around a fireplace can be cleaned with a stiff brush or steel wool and scrubbing powder. One material particularly good for this purpose is mechanic's hand soap containing sand. The cleaner should be carefully rinsed off with clean water.

If the facing is of smooth brick, the soot can be removed by rubbing with a carborundum block. This will expose a fresh and smooth surface.

Convenient Work Space

"Elbowroom" for working as well as living is a must in the farm family's home, for so many farm tasks are done in the house.

In planning a new farm home it's a good idea to include a first-floor work or utility room for such diverse activities as separating milk, cutting up meat after butchering, storing canned or deep-frozen foods and washing clothes. This room might well contain a washbowl and a shower for the use of the men folk.

Wait Until Settling Ends

Regardless of how well a new house is built, it probably will settle and this will cause plaster and concrete foundations to crack and windows and doors to stick. The settling process may continue for a year or more, so don't bother to do any patching until the house has stopped moving around.

Booklet on Plumbing

Twenty-four pages of useful information on prolonging the life of plumbing systems is contained in a new booklet "Plumbing Care and Repair," published by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill. The price is 10 cents a copy.

Removing Calcimine

Calcimine must be removed from the walls before they can be papered or painted. A tablespoon of ammonia to a gallon of water makes an excellent remover.

Romans Had Hedges

Ancient Romans used hedges of myrtle, laurel and box in their gardens.

Landscaping Puts Value on Property

That's one of the questions frequently asked by builders who view landscaping as an investment that enhances the value of the property, says Mary Deputy Lamson, landscape consultant for one of the leading glass manufacturers.

A rough rule-of-the-thumb is that the grounds can cost—and probably will before they are finished—from a fifth to a third of the total cost of the house and land," she explains.

"This amount is a sound investment, while any greater proportion than that is unduly extravagant and frequently due to bad planning. Such an expenditure, of course, includes driveways, walks, grading, lawns and planting everything outside the four walls of the house."

Mrs. Lamson says that if the expenditure for landscaping is made as the result of careful planning and judicious use of the money, it is actually recoverable when the property is sold.

However, she points out that it is not necessary to spend the entire amount on landscaping at one time in order to create a real picture. Economy can be practiced in landscaping, just as it can elsewhere about the home.

Sand Supply for Walks

An ingenious housewife keeps a supply of sand close by for icy walks. She obtained a wooden butter tub which she coated a brilliant blue to match the shutters on the house. A peasantry design was stenciled on the side of the tub. The man of the house cooped up by making a large wooden scoop and painting it to match. The set adds a decorative note to the entranceway.

Blueprints Available
Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Work Center

The kitchen proper is planned as a work center with the idea of making daily meal preparation tasks as easy and pleasant as possible. Working counters, cupboards and cabinets are arranged in a U with the sink centered under the double windows in the left wall of the room. Another window provides extra light for the working counters along the left wall of the room.

In the front wall of the kitchen the door leads to a hall connecting with the stairs to the cellar, the garage and a special tool storage compartment. The service entry, leading to the side yard, also opens off this hall.

Measuring 20' x 12', the garage receives the benefit of light and cross ventilation from one window in the right wall and another in the left wall. There is ample overhead storage space in the garage. Lighted by one window, the tool storage compartment is large enough to hold a work bench for the home handy man.

In the full cement basement of "The Cheyenne" place the heating plant under the living room; the laundry under the kitchen. Be sure to provide bulkheads for both safety and convenience. After these required basement installations have been taken care of, you'll have ample remaining

Amount of Floor Lumber Needed

In estimating the board feet of hardwood flooring required for a room, allowance must be made for the fact that flooring, like other lumber products, is dressed down from the rough size on which its normal dimensions are based.

It therefore is necessary to add a percentage to the amount which otherwise might cover a given space. With tongued and grooved strip flooring, the kind used most extensively, allowance also must be made for the surface width which is lost in milling the tongue edges.

A simple procedure is to find the area in square feet of the space to be covered. Then add to it the percentage which applies for the size flooring desired. This information can be obtained from any lumber dealer or hardwood flooring contractor. If oak in the popular 25-32-inch by 2 1/4-inch size is to be used, for example, add 33 1/2 per cent. Thus a 12 by 15 foot room would require 180 plus 60 or 240 board feet. An additional 5 per cent allowance for possible waste is generally recommended.

However, she points out that it is not necessary to spend the entire amount on landscaping at one time in order to create a real picture. Economy can be practiced in landscaping, just as it can elsewhere about the home.

It is unusual to bid and rebid a suit as weak as ten-nine-x-x, but sometimes this is quite sound procedure. In last year's national tournament, Henry Chanin, of Atlanta, earned a fine score by making just such a bid.

In response to one heart Chanin bid to bid no-trump with a singleton, but was not strong enough to bid two diamonds. He therefore shaded the usual requirements in order to respond with one spade.

When his partner raised to three spades, Chanin decided that his partner probably had strong trumps, and that the suit offered the best road to game. He therefore rebid his moth-eaten suit.

West opened the device of clubs, and Chanin saw that dummy's spade support was far from robust. To draw trumps in the normal way might well give the opponents enough trump tricks to defeat the contract. Chanin therefore decided to cash his top cards and cross-ruff.

He won the first trick with the ace of clubs, crossed to the ace of diamonds, cashed the king and jack of clubs, and ruffed a diamond in dummy. He next cashed the ace and king of hearts and ruffed a heart in his own hand.

Another diamond ruff in dummy provided the ninth trick and reduced East to four trumps. When another heart was now led from dummy, East could do nothing to defeat the contract.

Actually, East ruffed low, and Chanin won his tenth trick by over-ruffing with the nine. The defenders could not be prevented from taking the last three tricks, but Chanin had already made his game.

Carpet Strike Ends

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—A nine-week strike, which company officials said cost some 4,000 workers 2 million dollars in wages, ended last night at the Alexander Smith, Inc., carpet mills. The work stoppage was brought to an end by employee acceptance of wage increases ranging from nine to 10 cents an hour plus improvements in hospital, vacation and sick leave provisions of the union-company contract. The workers are members of the CIO Textile Workers Union. They approved the strike-ending company offer at a mass meeting.

Norwegian Coming

Oslo, Norway, Aug. 2 (AP)—Norwegian Prime Minister Oscar Fredrik Torp will leave Sept. 19 for a vacation tour of the United States, his office announced today. Torp plans to travel around the country to acquaint himself with the American way of life, the spokesman added.

Counts on Volunteers

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—Mayor Donald W. Kramer today considered use of volunteers if the city's 300 police and firemen all quit at once. The forces announced yesterday they would resign unless city council gave them a $500-a-year pay raise.

Appeals to Mayor In Garment Strike

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Picket line violence and a complaint of death threats yesterday marked the fourth day of an AFL drive to organize non-union shops in Manhattan's seething garment area.

An appeal for intervention by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri was made by a non-union leader in the clothing industry who said he had received telephone threats on his life.

Police reported a union picket pulled a non-union delivery truck driver from the cab of his vehicle and beat him on the head.

They arrested the picket Harold Miller, 22, on an assault charge on the complaint of truck driver Arthur Saunders, 30, of South Water street, Newburgh.

A dozen extra patrolmen, four mounted police and detectives were concentrated in the area where the alleged assault occurred.

The report of death threats was made by Hyman Deutchman, treasurer of the Independent Association of Women's Garment Manufacturers, Inc.

Cites Threat on Life

Deutchman told police that thrice Thursday and once yesterday a male voice said to him over the telephone, "if you don't stop, we'll kill you."

The AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union is conducting what it called an "organizational strike," concentrating on about 55 non-union shops. Three thousand union members were picketing.

Deutchman sent a telegram to the mayor asking him to "curb" these forces which are tending to intimidate men and women in their legal rights to earn a living.

Completes Sentence

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Pasqualina Manca Judd, 32, a Vassar College teacher, was released from jail Thursday night after serving 43 days for contempt of court. Mrs. Judd, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was jailed by Circuit Judge Elmer Schnackenberg June 18, after she had taken her daughter, Mary Louise, 6, to New York city against court orders. The child was placed in custody of a guardian when Mrs. Judd and her former husband, Dr. Maurice Judd of suburban Oak Park, were divorced in 1948. Mrs. Judd's original contempt sentence was for two years. Later, it was cut by Judge Schnackenberg to eight months; and on a second appeal that Mrs. Judd was suffering from ulcers, to 43 days.

Speeding Army News

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 2 (AP)—The army is speeding up its reports on casualties in the Korea fighting to the families back home. The chief of army's casualty branch said today that the time required at present to notify next of kin averages six and a half days from the time the soldier is killed, wounded, reported missing in action or captured. Col. Curtis H. Bennett of St. Augustine, Fla., said the average time six months ago was 15 days. Bennett is on a 60-day assignment in Korea from Washington to streamline the casualty report process.

Revolt Is Reported

Hong Kong, Aug. 2 (AP)—An independent newspaper reported today that a "peasant revolt took place on June 21 in Lohang township in central Kwangtung when the Communist summer grain tax collecting teams arrived." The newspaper Kung Sheung Jih Pao said the dispatch from Kungong in Red China came from Communist sources. The dispatch said at least 12 Reds were killed before Communist troops put down the uprising.

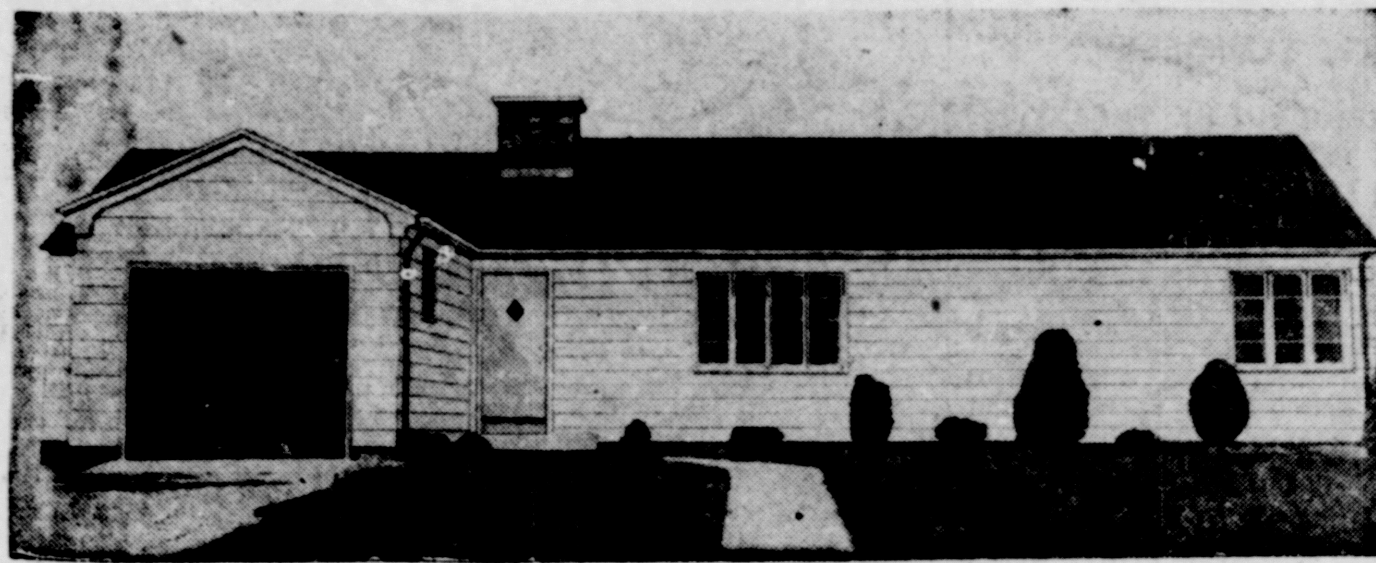

Copters Continue

Prestwick, Scotland, Aug. 2 (AP)—The two U. S. Air Force helicopters that windmilled their way across the Atlantic in the first-ever crossing of that ocean by such craft took off today for Amsterdam. The big "copters" arrived here Thursday en route from Westover, Mass., to Weisbaden, Germany, where they will be used for air-sea rescue work. They are due to arrive in the Dutch city this afternoon.

Chiang Signs Treaty

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 2 (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek today signed the peace treaty between Japan and Nationalist China. It goes into effect at a ceremony here next Tuesday.

Sanitary Features Stressed in Latest Garbage Grinders

Grind it, shred it, pulverize it. That's the way more and more garbage is being handled every day. The growing popularity of electric garbage disposal units was in full evidence at the recent National Plumbing and Heating Exposition in Chicago.

Seven manufacturers displayed various types and models of garbage disposal units. Regardless of the particular make or model of these appliances, they are all labor savers and they all claim many healthful advantages, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries.

Electric garbage disposal units reduce the possibility of diseases spread by rodents and insects since no garbage is collected in cans or bags.

Furthermore, mechanical garbage grinders are self-cleaning and therefore eliminate odors or vegetable deterioration around the sink.

Electric garbage grinders will fit most sinks. All have safety devices, as for example, a cover over the drain without which the unit will not operate. This device forestalls the possibility of accidents caused by a youngster's curiosity. Waste disposal units will not only grind up garbage but they will also handle bones, cellophane, paper, coffee grinds, and all other kitchen waste.

Sturdy Foundations Are Needed for Good Homes

A good house has well-built walls and footings, sturdy frame construction, sound and attractive doors, good plumbing and heating installation, and good electric wiring, according to the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The foundation has to bear the weight of the house, and should be well built. Good walls are also essential. It is better to forego temporarily some of the mechanical helps, appliances or decorative effects and put the money into sound foundations and walls.

Some Color Schemes

For the Dining Room

If you want to get away from traditional color schemes in your dining room, one decorator suggests the use of blue-green and ivory with antique red mahogany furniture, cherry and soft gray with dark brown walnut furniture, and practically any tints of your choice if your furniture has a blond finish. With pickled pine or maple furniture, grained blues or greens are suggested. Each dining room should be carefully studied before the final selection of colors is made.

Fireplace Brick Can

Be Cleaned by Brush

Smoked and sooty brickwork around a fireplace can be cleaned with a stiff brush or steel wool and scrubbing powder. One material particularly good for this purpose is mechanic's hand soap containing sand. The cleaner should be carefully rinsed off with clean water.

If the facing is of smooth brick, the soot can be removed by rubbing with a carborundum block. This will expose a fresh and smooth surface.

Convenient Work Space

"Elbowroom" for working as well as living is a must in the farm family's home, for so many farm tasks are done in the house. In planning a new farm home it's a good idea to include a first-floor work or utility room for such diverse activities as separating milk, cutting up meat after butchering, storing canned or deep-frozen foods and washing clothes. This room might well contain a washbowl and a shower for the use of the men folk.

Wait Until Settling Ends

Regardless of how well a new house is built, probably will settle and this will cause plaster and concrete foundations to crack and windows and doors to stick. The settling process may continue for a year or more, so don't bother to do any patching until the house has stopped moving around.

Booklet on Plumbing

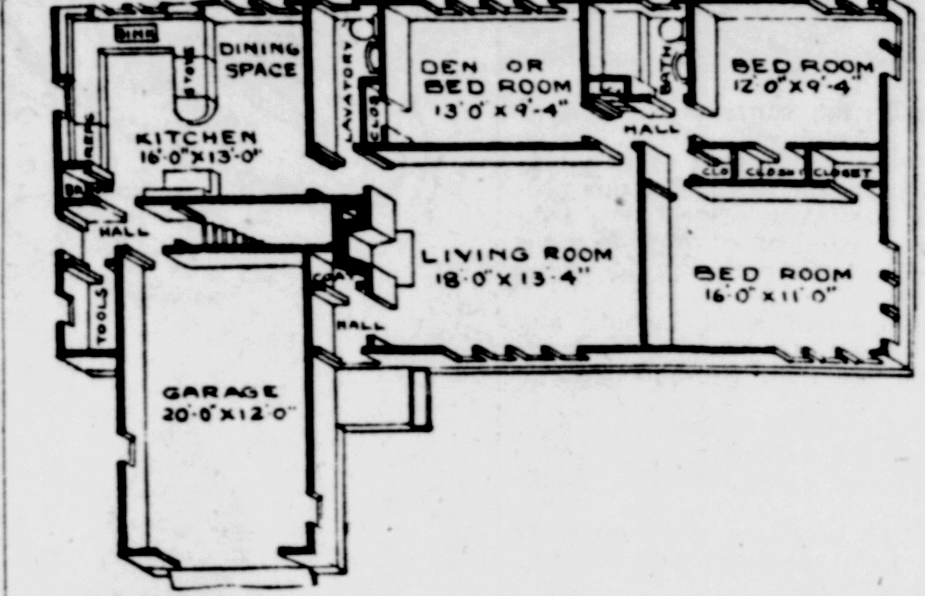

Twenty-four pages of useful information on prolonging the life of plumbing systems is contained in a new booklet "Plumbing Care and Repair," published by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill. The price is 10 cents a copy.

Removing Calcimine

Calcimine must be removed from the walls before they can be papered or painted. A tablespoon of ammonia to a gallon of water makes an excellent remover.

Romans Had Hedges

Ancient Romans used hedges of myrtle, laurel and box in their gardens.

A Trim and Modern Design

Rooms Five Bedrooms Three Closets Seven
Cubage 28,000 ft.
Dimensions 60' x 25'

Although shingles are used for the exterior finish of the house in the illustration, clapboards, or a combination wood and masonry exterior, would be equally suitable and attractive. Taking into consideration the colors of neighboring homes, of course, just about any shade could be used for "The Cheyenne." If you prefer a white exterior, you can add brightness, warmth and friendliness by having colorful asphalt roofing installed.

Abundance of Windows

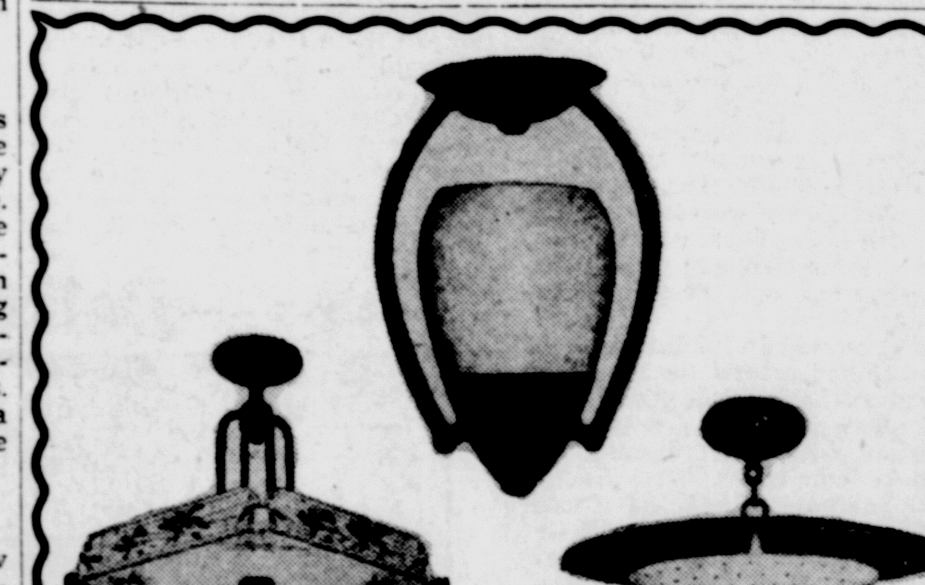

The abundance of windows adds a great deal to both the exterior and interior charms of this comfortable home. And, the low pitched roof carries out the impression of coziness created by the low slung architectural lines of "The Cheyenne."

Containing a coat closet in its back wall, the entry hall has purposely been kept fairly small in size so as not to rob the house of precious living space. Opening directly off the entry hall the living room is 18'x13'4" in dimensions. The large, 16 sectioned picture window in the front wall and the fireplace in the left wall share top decorative honors in the room; you should plan your furniture arrangement and color scheme accordingly.

Although the living room serves as a sort of connecting link with all the other rooms in the house, the doorways are so placed that you don't have to walk through the center of the room to get from one part of the house to another. At the right end of the back wall is a door opening on a hall connecting with the two bedrooms, the bath and the den or bedroom.

Largest of these rooms in the 16' x 11' master bedroom. With six windows around the right front corner of the room, this bedroom is well lighted, well ventilated and very attractive. Generous closet space is provided in this room, as it is throughout the house.

Measuring 12' x 9' 4" the back bedroom is smaller but equally comfortable and attractive. Four windows forming the right back corner of the room provide an abundance of light and ventilation and greatly enhance the decorative appeal of the room.

That's one of the questions frequently asked by builders who view landscaping as an investment that enhances the value of the property, says Mary Deputy Lamson, landscape consultant for one of the leading glass manufacturers.

"A rough rule-of-the-thumb is that the grounds can cost — and probably will before they are finished — from a fifth to a third of the total cost of the house and land," she explains.

"This amount is a sound investment, while any greater proportion than that is unduly extravagant and frequently due to bad planning. Such an expenditure, of course, includes driveways, walks, grading, lawns and planting — everything outside the four walls of the house."

Mrs. Lamson says that if the expenditure for landscaping is made as the result of careful planning and judicious use of the money, it is actually recoverable when the property is sold.

However, she points out that it is not necessary to spend the entire amount on landscaping at one time in order to create a real picture. Economy can be practiced in landscaping, just as it can elsewhere about the home.

FUTURE CONVENTIONS
It is amazing that out of the welter of confusion and the childish displays of egotism and irresponsibility that characterized both the national political conventions, two such good men should emerge as leaders. Millions who followed the conventions through newspaper and radio accounts and millions more who watched the events on television may breathe a sigh of relief now that they are finally over.
Many political figures predict that there will be vast changes in the conduct of future conventions. Scarcely a move that delegates to the conventions can make is safe from the piercing eye of television. There is a growing sentiment for presidential primaries to replace the old system of deals and political chicanery which has been so important so often in the selection of candidates.
At the start of each of the meetings in both conventions prayers were offered for guidance. Apparently those prayers were answered for despite all the nonsense the best interests of the people seem to have been served. But it is time for the people to demand a change in the way presidential candidates are selected before the Almighty grows impatient. The Lord helps those who work to help themselves.

With the better part of another week having spread politics across all of the television channels, it seems somewhat a happy change to be bombarded with some of the fanciful commercials again. These you can turn off; before, you might have missed something.

TAXES WILL OUT
Even when saving the American taxpayers money amounting to an estimated two million dollars a year, with a simple time-saving suggestion, a hard working Veterans Administration employee had to shell out taxes on his prize money.
Harry Solomon is the supply officer of the Veterans Administration, Regional Office, in Cleveland. He watched for a chance to save the department some of the tax dollars paid to the Treasury every year on March 15. He saw his opportunity in the numbered insurance receipts issued after every veteran's insurance payment and suggested that the receipts be given only when requested.
This is a practice long used by private insurance companies. The VA adopted it, thus saving handling costs, mailing costs and printing costs amounting to about $1,178,000 a year. Add to it the million dollars it costs the postoffice to handle the mail in stamp-free envelopes and you have a saving for the harassed American taxpayer of over two million dollars.
There were many other excellent suggestions for increased efficiency, showing plainly that hard-working people in government service are trying to save wherever they can. The paradox came when Solomon received his award, theoretically $155, for the tax-saving idea and found thirty-one dollars had been deducted for income taxes on the prize money. You just can't win.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party. And if you don't believe it just ask the Democrats or the Republicans.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS
With an increase reported in the number of infantile paralysis cases here and in other parts of the country, threatening the nation with a siege as bad and maybe worse than the all-time record year of 1949, we again submit recommendations from the National Foundation on how to protect children against polio.
Simple precautions to observe include washing hands carefully before eating, avoiding over-fatigue, chilling or use of other people's towels, drinking glasses, dishes and tableware.
The most important safeguard is going to be bed and staying there at the first sign of illness of any kind during the polio season and calling your doctor. Such a procedure is advisable because there have been so many known cases of severe paralysis, following exertion after the first symptom appeared.

That Body of Yours
By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
CORONARY THROMBOSIS
For years the established treatment of a heart stroke (coronary thrombosis) was three to six weeks in bed with perhaps another couple of weeks "taking it easy" about the house. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Samuel A. Levine and Bernard Lown, medical clinic of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and department of medicine, Harvard Medical School, state: "It has been our view that recumbency in bed affords less rest to the heart than the sedentary (sitting down) position in a chair with the feet down. The lying-down position permits return of the blood to the heart from the most distant parts of the body, while the sitting position permits gravity to mobilize fluid in the dependent parts of the body. The lying down position encourages the pooling of fluid in the chest region. This pooling of blood in the chest region or circuit may be dangerous. The abruptness of the onset of coronary thrombosis with its frequent grave results afflicting, as it frequently does, the highly active and previous healthy person, when coupled with long-continued bed rest, saps morale, provokes desperation, unleashes anxiety and useless hopelessness with respect to resumption of normal living."
Aside from the loss of morale in lying in bed for weeks, there are physical bad effects such as constipation, gradual weakness, pneumonia, kidney and bladder derangements. "In short, the bed is not a resting place for a patient with heart disease."
Because of the above conditions, Drs. Levine and Lown, for the past year and a half, have used the armchair treatment instead of bed rest. Of the 81 patients with acute coronary thrombosis, 57 were admitted to the medical service of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and 24 were treated at home or in other hospitals. The majority of patients were out of bed during the first two days. They were helped out of bed and placed in a comfortable chair. They remained in the chair until they felt tired, as these physicians wanted the patients out of bed as much as possible without discomfort to them. They began with an hour or two daily out of bed and by the end of the first week they spent the larger portion of the day in the chair.
The most encouraging aspect of this armchair treatment of coronary thrombosis was the continued sense of well-being and high morale. When they were permitted to walk, there was no dizziness or weakness," the doctors tell us.
There were no complications caused by the armchair treatment.
While there were 8 patients who died during the armchair treatment, there was no evidence that the chair treatment was responsible for these deaths. "The prompt improvement shown by some of these desperately ill with congestive heart failure after being placed in a chair was particularly impressive."
The results obtained by the armchair method means that other physicians will give this method a trial and we will obtain further information thereon. Certainly a patient sitting up in a chair naturally has less anxiety about his illness than if confined to bed.

These Days
By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
SOCIALIZED MEDICINE BY TREATY
At the meeting of the International Labor Organization in Geneva, Switzerland, in June, a convention entitled, "Minimum Standards of Social Security" was passed. This convention was submitted to 65 countries, including the United States, for ratification. Once ratified by any country, the convention becomes a treaty binding that country to its provisions.
Under the American Constitution, if two-thirds of the members of the United States Senate present ratify such a convention, it becomes the law of the land, taking precedence over any domestic law passed by Congress or by any state legislature. The United Nations and an increasing number of international organizations, passing conventions and covenants, are really legislating for the American people without their knowledge of what is being done to them.
This convention establishes universal socialized medicine.
Part II of the convention contains the following provisions:
"Each member for which this part of this convention is in force shall secure to the persons protected the provision of benefit in respect of a condition requiring medical care of a preventive or curative nature in accordance with the following articles of this part."
"The contingencies covered shall include any morbid condition, whatever its cause, and pregnancy and confinement and their consequences."
Also:
"The benefit shall include at least—
(a) In case of a morbid condition—
(i) General practitioner care, including domiciliary visiting;
(ii) Specialist care at hospitals for in-patients and out-patients, and such specialist care as may be available outside hospitals;
(iii) The essential pharmaceutical supplies as prescribed by medical or other qualified practitioners; and
(iv) Hospitalization where necessary; and
(b) In case of pregnancy and confinement and their consequences—
(i) Pre-natal, confinement and post-natal care either by medical practitioner or by qualified midwives; and
(ii) Hospitalization where necessary.
"2. The beneficiary or his breadwinner may be required to share in the cost of the medical care the beneficiary receives in respect of a morbid condition; the rules concerning such cost-sharing shall be so designed as to avoid hardship."
"3. The benefit provided in accordance with this article shall be afforded with a view to maintaining, restoring or improving the health of the person protected and his ability to work and to attend to his personal needs."
"4. The institutions or government departments administering the benefit shall, by such means as may be deemed appropriate, encourage the persons protected to avail themselves of the general health services placed at their disposal by the public authorities or by other bodies recognized by the public authorities."
This is state medicine. The document is a long one and I can here quote no more, but it is clear that should the United States ratify this convention, government hospitalization, government-controlled attendance of physicians, and government-provided medication would be required by law. Oscar Ewing's measures, which Congress has rejected, would become law, without an act of Congress so providing, but by the ratification of a treaty, the title of which does not indicate its nature. It could be passed without senators even reading it.
Doctors from all over the world objected to these provisions. Leonard Calhoun, an American member, said before the final vote:
"Since personal freedom and a sense of personal responsibility are part and parcel of our way of life, we are opposed in principle to the regulations of the proposed social security convention, which would provide for what we employers, in our country at least, term socialized medicine. On this ground alone we would have to vote against this proposed instrument. I believe that the great majority of the people of the United States believe that an important part of our freedom is the freedom of the individual, both as a patient and as a physician."
However, most of the American government delegates followed the lead of the labor delegates in voting for socialized medicine. Their argument seemed to be that if they voted differently, they would be accused of being personally anti-labor.
This measure may come before the Senate at its next session and requires scrupulous scrutiny and fearless opposition.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE BY TREATY
At the meeting of the International Labor Organization in Geneva, Switzerland, in June, a convention entitled, "Minimum Standards of Social Security" was passed. This convention was submitted to 65 countries, including the United States, for ratification. Once ratified by any country, the convention becomes a treaty binding that country to its provisions.
Under the American Constitution, if two-thirds of the members of the United States Senate present ratify such a convention, it becomes the law of the land, taking precedence over any domestic law passed by Congress or by any state legislature. The United Nations and an increasing number of international organizations, passing conventions and covenants, are really legislating for the American people without their knowledge of what is being done to them.
This convention establishes universal socialized medicine.
Part II of the convention contains the following provisions:
"Each member for which this part of this convention is in force shall secure to the persons protected the provision of benefit in respect of a condition requiring medical care of a preventive or curative nature in accordance with the following articles of this part."
"The contingencies covered shall include any morbid condition, whatever its cause, and pregnancy and confinement and their consequences."
Also:
"The benefit shall include at least—
(a) In case of a morbid condition—
(i) General practitioner care, including domiciliary visiting;
(ii) Specialist care at hospitals for in-patients and out-patients, and such specialist care as may be available outside hospitals;
(iii) The essential pharmaceutical supplies as prescribed by medical or other qualified practitioners; and
(iv) Hospitalization where necessary; and
(b) In case of pregnancy and confinement and their consequences—
(i) Pre-natal, confinement and post-natal care either by medical practitioner or by qualified midwives; and
(ii) Hospitalization where necessary.
"2. The beneficiary or his breadwinner may be required to share in the cost of the medical care the beneficiary receives in respect of a morbid condition; the rules concerning such cost-sharing shall be so designed as to avoid hardship."
"3. The benefit provided in accordance with this article shall be afforded with a view to maintaining, restoring or improving the health of the person protected and his ability to work and to attend to his personal needs."
"4. The institutions or government departments administering the benefit shall, by such means as may be deemed appropriate, encourage the persons protected to avail themselves of the general health services placed at their disposal by the public authorities or by other bodies recognized by the public authorities."

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CORONARY THROMBOSIS

For years the established treatment of a heart stroke (coronary thrombosis) was three to six weeks in bed with perhaps another couple of weeks "taking it easy" about the house. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Samuel A. Levine and Bernard Lown, medical clinic of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and department of medicine, Harvard Medical School, state: "It has been our view that recumbency in bed affords less rest to the heart than the sedentary (sitting down) position in a chair with the feet down. The lying-down position permits return of the blood to the heart from the most distant parts of the body, while the sitting position permits gravity to mobilize fluid in the dependent parts of the body. The lying down position encourages the pooling of fluid in the chest region. This pooling of blood in the chest region or circuit may be dangerous. The abruptness of the onset of coronary thrombosis with its frequent grave results afflicting, as it frequently does, the highly active and previous healthy person, when coupled with long-continued bed rest, saps morale, provokes desperation, unleashes anxiety and useless hopelessness with respect to resumption of normal living."

Aside from the loss of morale in lying in bed for weeks, there are physical bad effects such as constipation, gradual weakness, pneumonia, kidney and bladder derangements. "In short, the bed is not a resting place for a patient with heart disease."

Because of the above conditions, Drs. Levine and Lown, for the past year and a half, have used the armchair treatment instead of bed rest. Of the 81 patients with acute coronary thrombosis, 57 were admitted to the medical service of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and 24 were treated at home or in other hospitals. The majority of patients were out of bed during the first two days. They were helped out of bed and placed in a comfortable chair. They remained in the chair until they felt tired, as these physicians wanted the patients out of bed as much as possible without discomfort to them. They began with an hour or two daily out of bed and by the end of the first week they spent the larger portion of the day in the chair.

The most encouraging aspect of this armchair treatment of coronary thrombosis was the continued sense of well-being and high morale. When they were permitted to walk, there was no dizziness or weakness," the doctors tell us.

There were no complications caused by the armchair treatment.

While there were 8 patients who died during the armchair treatment, there was no evidence that the chair treatment was responsible for these deaths. "The prompt improvement shown by some of these desperately ill with congestive heart failure after being placed in a chair was particularly impressive."

The results obtained by the armchair method means that other physicians will give this method a trial and we will obtain further information thereon. Certainly a patient sitting up in a chair naturally has less anxiety about his illness than if confined to bed.

An Explanation of Those Washington Saucers

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DR. W. PEARSON

Washington—During the early days of the long-drawn-out steel strike negotiations, Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg was urging that the crisis be solved by giving the steel industry a price increase. She wanted to know why this wasn't practicable.

"You can increase prices all right," replied Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall. "You can increase 'em if you want to wreck the country."

"Yes, you can increase 'em all right," he added very softly, "but you'll have to get yourselves a new price administrator."

Last week steel prices were increased as a "bribe" to the steel industry, and as a result, Mr. Truman is going to have to get himself a new price administrator.

Arnall will carry out his threat without shouting or bombast—in fact, just as softly as he gave his reply to Assistant Secretary Rosenberg. He doesn't blame the President for caving in to the steel companies in view of the desperate arms situation, and he doesn't want to embarrass anyone. Nevertheless, Arnall has concluded that you can't control prices, if you yield every time you get in a tight corner.

"Under the present law there are just two things left for the price administrator to do," Arnall told a friend recently. "If the price is too low he can remove a commodity from price control, or if the price is too high, he can cave in."

Arnall is tired of caving in as a result of pressure from above, so about the end of the summer he will unobtrusively go back to Georgia.

Washington Pipeline
The person who has more influence on Harry Truman than anyone else, told him just before the convention that she would not be too much opposed if he ran again. Hitherto, Mrs. Truman had been one of the chief reasons why HST hadn't wanted to run. Another was daughter Margaret.

Mrs. India Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, received an offer from the Eisenhower camp to come over to the Republicans. She declined. She wasn't interested, and besides, the Republicans didn't even give the ladies a nominating speech for the vice presidency, whereas the girls had quite a fling at the Democratic convention. . . . Both Mrs. Edwards and Judge Sarah Hughes of Dallas had their names put in, in addition to which one whole day was devoted to the ladies. . . . Stanley High, who ghost-wrote FDR's famed speech on "economic royalists," is now ghost-writing speeches for Eisenhower defending the economic royalists. . . . Truman is really burned up at Eisenhower. Once a great Ike fan, the President now privately calls him an ingrate. He is particularly sore at Eisenhower's claim that he had nothing to do with carving up Germany. Real fact is that the Pentagon has some papers signed by Eisenhower showing that Ike did have a lot to do with carving up Germany. These will be used—if and when the campaign gets really hot.

Truman's Senate Opponent
It looks as if President Truman might repeat his propensity for picking the wrong candidate in Missouri. So far he hasn't picked a winner.

First he bet his money against Congressman Roger Slaughter of Kansas City and lost. Later he bet against ex-Congressman Tom Hennings for the Senate and lost. Now he is betting against his old assistant, Stuart Symington, who is running in the Missouri primary against the President's choice, State Attorney General J. E. Taylor.

A lot of people have been puzzled regarding Truman's opposition to Symington, a man who worked long and loyally for the administration, first as secretary for air, later as chairman of the National Security Resources Board, finally as head of the RFC. Symington's difficulties with the White House date back to the days when he brought Charles E. Wilson into the administration as defense mobilization. Symington had suggested Wilson for the job, and went up to New York to urge him to take it. Wilson, he planned, would be an independent operator, and he, Symington, would continue with his vitally important chairmanship of the National Security Resources Board.

However, it turned out just the other way. Symington found himself working under Wilson, the man he appointed. Wilson got the White House to issue an executive order making Symington his subordinate.

The President probably didn't realize that he had undercut his own man. The deal was put across by subordinates. Anyway, he later shifted Symington over to clean up the RFC scandals and this was where Symington made his political error.

He let the chips fall where they may. When the Senate wanted information on such sensitive matters as Donald Dawson, a former RFC official now working at the White House; and on the President's private stenographer, Mrs. Carl Young of mink-coat fame, Symington released the true facts.

It was then that White House aides began gunning for him. Their nickname for him was "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Symington, they implied, was too pure. It's difficult for any president not to be influenced by the palace guard, and Truman undoubtedly was affected by the constant anti-Symington pin-pricking of the Dawsons, the Connellys, and the Vaughans.

It will be interesting to see what happens if and when Symington comes back to Washington next fall as a full-fledged Senator from Missouri.

Capital Chaff
Senator Kefauver has gone down to a Tennessee farm where he is swimming, relaxing, and trying to read some books. He hasn't been able to sleep at night for thinking how he could have handled his campaign differently—and, if so, won—Secretary of State Dean Acheson was flabbergasted at Brazilian hospitality. His host at Sao Paulo, Jorge Prado, built a glass wall costing $25,000 around his garden just for the party he gave in honor of Acheson. The wall was to permit guests to enjoy the garden while the public was kept out. . . . Kefauver is going to the support of his old friend, Gov. Gordon Browning, who has been criticized by some Tennesseans for voting against the seating of Virginia unless Virginia took the loyalty oath.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Aug. 1—Members of the Olive Memorial Post, 1627, will pick up articles for the post auction during the next three weeks. The collectors the first Saturday of August will concentrate on the villages of Shokan, Ashokan and Boiceville. Olivettes are urged to clean their cellars and attics for the benefit of a good cause, and most any saleable contribution will be appreciated by the veterans for their sale which is scheduled to take place August 23 at the Olive town garage on the Bushkill Road.
Local events during early August include the annual Reformed Church fair and supper, Wednesday afternoon and evening, Aug. 6. Members of the Ladies' Aid will have booths and tables featuring fancy articles, rugs and quilts, and so forth, together with children's and refreshment booths. The usual cafeteria supper in the church basement will begin at 5:30 o'clock.
Richard Winchell Port Ewen War 2 veteran, who was mentioned in a recent Freeman story apropos of his promotion at the I.B.M. plant in Poughkeepsie, comes of old Olive stock on both sides of the house. The Winchells have been in the reservoir country since before the Revolutionary War, and Richard's mother, the former Ida Shaw of Shokan, is a granddaughter of James H. Shaw, local sawmill proprietor in the 1870's, and his wife who was a daughter of the Rev. William Hill, an early Methodist preacher here.

A small but enthusiastic group of local residents journeyed to the Ashokan railroad depot on a very hot Sunday afternoon to see and cheer the revived (for a day) Rip Van Winkle Flyer. Comedically few of the assemblage, strange to relate, were persons who had lived here in days of the old Ulster & Delaware Railroad. Still, everyone had read in The Freeman about the train and all were pleased at what they saw, though of course the old timers missed the steam locomotives and the racket and deep-toned whistle that heralded their approach, back there in the good old days.

Do You Remember
By SOPHIE MILLER
Summertime brings former Kingstonians back to their native haunts to say "Hello." Yesterday, Peggy Gannon Wright drove down with her husband and three months old son. Today, Lilly Frier Sharp, who used to have a food market on Union street drove up from Newburgh with her family to catch up on news over the past years. They have a gas station down near Newburgh. It is very difficult to answer all the questions they shoot at you, covering all the people they ever knew. Well, that's life. You can move to another town, but you always remember your hometown. I can give them only one answer, "subscribe to your hometown paper, then you'll always be up on the news." When I lived and worked in New York city, I never could pass 42nd street at Times Square where they had newspapers from all the small cities of the nation. Of course, I always bought a Freeman. How could I resist, and yet I was home every couple of weeks or at the most, months.
Going back a half a century to the 1902 book of the Y.M.C.A. Women's Auxiliary Opera, which was held in the old Opera House on March 11 and 12, the advertisements always bring back memories. I see the ad of Mark Jacobs, a merchant tailor of 38 Strand, Rondout. I remember the little old gentleman who used to come in a high silk hat to the Temple Emanuel on high holidays. He was such a good looking man, the grandfather of Seamon Jacobs, who married Margie Hart, S. E. Eighth of 26 Broadway, Rondout has an adv. As you will notice, all these advertisers, in stating their address, if downtown, mention Rondout, N. Y. not Kingston, N. Y. and that was after the incorporation of the two villages, Rondout and Kingston. The downtowners still kept Rondout in their mailing and stationery addresses. Just when they started to give it up, I don't know.
No doubt old time smokers remember, Howard Myer. He had an ad. just stating "Fine cigars, Kingston, N. Y." Back in 1902 Charles J. Messenger who was called the "City Hall Grocer," also had fresh fish, clams and oysters, up at 442 Broadway. At that time Ferry street had its own business section. I see B. M. Tremper was a wholesalers grocer at 36 Ferry street of course, Rondout, N. Y. He carried "Gilt Edge" canned goods. Those were the days also when Canfield Supply Co. was in Rondout, too. They advertised they were established in 1850 and incorporated in 1892. They were at the time, manufacturers, wholesale and retail dealers in plumbing, stoves, ranges, heaters and furnaces, also gas fitting, steam and hot water heating.
I see a large ad for W. S.

New Tuition Plan
New York (AP)—A special deferred payment plan for veterans of the Korean war and for other veterans entitled to educational benefits under the new G. I. Bill of Rights will be started in September at Columbia University's Teachers College, according to Dr. Milton C. Del Manzo, college provost. They may have up to two-thirds of their tuition deferred. Under the deferred payment plan, if the year's tuition for a veteran is $600, he pays $200 in cash and the balance in installments starting six months after he leaves college.

Overpayment Penalized
New York (AP)—Four firms in the New York City area that paid their employees too much, were penalized $11,217 in tax disallowances, reports the regional office of the Wage Stabilization Board. More drastic penalties would have been imposed, said a board official, had not the companies shown willingness to co-operate once their unauthorized wage schedules had been uncovered by investigators of Wage and Hour Division of the Federal Department of Labor.

Robbers Load Up
El Monte, Calif. (AP)—Officers investigated a robbery at the Wee Nippy Cafe recently. They reported the burglars took, not a wee nip, but four cases of beer, and $191 from the cash register.

FUTURE CONVENTIONS
It is amazing that out of the welter of confusion and the childish displays of egotism and irresponsibility that characterized both the national political conventions, two such good men should emerge as leaders. Millions who followed the conventions through newspaper and radio accounts and millions more who watched the events on television may breathe a sigh of relief now that they are finally over.

Many political figures predict that there will be vast changes in the conduct of future conventions. Scarcely a move that delegates to the conventions can make is safe from the piercing eye of television. There is a growing sentiment for presidential primaries to replace the old system of deals and political chicanery which has been so important so often in the selection of candidates.

At the start of each of the meetings in both conventions prayers were offered for guidance. Apparently those prayers were answered for despite all the nonsense the best interests of the people seem to have been served. But it is time for the people to demand a change in the way presidential candidates are selected before the Almighty grows impatient. The Lord helps those who work to help themselves.

With the better part of another week having spread politics across all of the television channels, it seems somewhat a happy change to be bombarded with some of the fanciful commercials again. These you can turn off; before, you might have missed something.

TAXES WILL OUT
Even when saving the American taxpayers money amounting to an estimated two million dollars a year, with a simple time-saving suggestion, a hard working Veterans Administration employee had to shell out taxes on his prize money.

Harry Solomon is the supply officer of the Veterans Administration, Regional Office, in Cleveland. He watched for a chance to save the department some of the tax dollars paid to the Treasury every year on March 15. He saw his opportunity in the numbered insurance receipts issued after every veteran's insurance payment and suggested that the receipts be given only when requested.

This is a practice long used by private insurance companies. The VA adopted it, thus saving handling costs, mailing costs and printing costs amounting to about $1,178,000 a year. Add to it the million dollars it costs the postoffice to handle the mail in stamp-free envelopes and you have a saving for the harassed American taxpayer of over two million dollars.

There were many other excellent suggestions for increased efficiency, showing plainly that hard-working people in government service are trying to save wherever they can. The paradox came when Solomon received his award, theoretically $155, for the tax-saving idea and found thirty-one dollars had been deducted for income taxes on the prize money. You just can't win.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS
With an increase reported in the number of infantile paralysis cases here and in other parts of the country, threatening the nation with a siege as bad and maybe worse than the all-time record year of 1949, we again submit recommendations from the National Foundation on how to protect children against polio.

Simple precautions to observe include washing hands carefully before eating, avoiding over-fatigue, chilling or use of other people's towels, drinking glasses, dishes and tableware.

The most important safeguard is going to bed and staying there at the first sign of illness of any kind during the polio season and calling your doctor. Such a procedure is advisable because there have been so many known cases of severe paralysis, following exertion after the first symptom appeared.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE BY TREATY
At the meeting of the International Labor Organization in Geneva, Switzerland, in June, a convention entitled, "Minimum Standards of Social Security" was passed. This convention was submitted to 65 countries, including the United States, for ratification. Once ratified by any country, the convention becomes a treaty binding that country to its provisions.

Under the American Constitution, if two-thirds of the members of the United States Senate present ratify such a convention, it becomes the law of the land, taking precedence over any domestic law passed by Congress or by any state legislature. The United Nations and an increasing number of international organizations, passing conventions and covenants, are really legislating for the American people without their knowledge of what is being done to them.

This convention establishes universal socialized medicine. Part II of the convention contains the following provision: Each member for which this part of this convention is in force shall secure to the persons protected the provision of benefit in respect of a condition requiring medical care of a preventive or curative nature in accordance with the following articles of this part.

"The contingencies covered shall include any morbid condition, whatever its cause, and pregnancy and confinement and their consequences." Also, (a) The benefit shall include at least— (b) In case of a morbid condition— (i) General practitioner care, including domiciliary visiting; (ii) Specialist care at hospitals for in-patients and out-patients, and such specialist care as may be available outside hospitals; (iii) The essential pharmaceutical supplies as prescribed by medical or other qualified practitioners; and (iv) Hospitalization where necessary; and (b) In case of pregnancy and confinement and their consequences— (i) Pre-natal, confinement and post-natal care either by medical practitioner or by qualified midwives; and (ii) Hospitalization where necessary.

"The beneficiary or his breadwinner may be required to share in the cost of the medical care the beneficiary receives in respect of a morbid condition; the rules concerning such cost-sharing shall be so designed as to avoid hardship." "The benefit provided in accordance with this article shall be afforded with a view to maintaining, restoring or improving the health of the person protected and his ability to work and to attend to his personal needs."

"The institutions or government departments administering the benefit shall, by such means as may be deemed appropriate, encourage the persons protected to avail themselves of the general health services placed at their disposal by the public authorities or by other bodies recognized by the competent authorities."

This is state medicine. The document is a long one and I can here quote no more, but it is clear that should the United States ratify this convention, government hospitalization, government-controlled attendance of physicians, and government-provided medication would be required by law. Oscar Ewing's measures, which Congress has rejected, would become law, without an act of Congress so providing, but by the ratification of a treaty, the title of which does not indicate its nature. It could be passed without senators even reading it.

Doctors from all over the world objected to these provisions. Leonard Calhoun, an American member, said before the final vote:

"Since personal freedom and a sense of personal responsibility are part and parcel of our way of life, we are opposed in principle to the regulations of the proposed social security convention which would provide for what we employers, in our country at least, term socialized medicine. On this ground alone we would have to vote against this proposed instrument. I believe that the great majority of the people of the United States believe that an important part of our freedom is the freedom of the individual, both as a patient and as a physician."

However, most of the American government delegates followed the lead of the labor delegates in voting for socialized medicine. Their argument seemed to be that if they voted differently, they would be accused of being personally anti-labor.

This measure may come before the Senate at its next session and requires scrupulous scrutiny and fearless opposition. (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CORONARY THROMBOSIS
For years the established treatment of a heart stroke (coronary thrombosis) was three to six weeks in bed with perhaps another couple of weeks "taking it easy" about the house. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Samuel A. Levine and Bernard Lown, medical clinic of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and department of medicine, Harvard Medical School, state: "It has been our view that recumbency in bed affords less rest to the heart than the sedentary (sitting down) position in a chair with the feet down. The lying-down position permits most return of the blood to the heart from the most distant parts of the body, while the sitting position permits gravity to mobilize fluid in the dependent parts of the body. The lying down position encourages the pooling of fluid in the chest region. This pooling of blood in the chest region or circuit may be dangerous. The abruptness of the onset of coronary thrombosis with its frequent grave results afflicting, as it frequently does, the highly active and previous healthy person, who coupled with long-continued bed rest, saps morale, provokes desperation, unleashes anxiety and ushers in hopelessness with respect to resumption of normal living."

Aside from the loss of morale in lying in bed for weeks, there are physical bad effects such as constipation, gradual weakness, pneumonia, kidney and bladder derangements. "In short, the bed is not a resting place for a patient with heart disease."

Because of the above conditions, Drs. Levine and Lown, for the past year and a half, have used the armchair treatment instead of bed rest. Of the 81 patients with acute coronary thrombosis, 57 were admitted to the medical service of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and 24 were treated at home or in other hospitals. The majority of patients were out of bed during the first two days. They were helped out of bed and placed in a comfortable chair. They remained in the chair until they felt tired, as these physicians wanted the patients out of bed as much as possible without discomfort to them. They began with an hour or two daily out of bed and by the end of the first week they spent the larger portion of the day in the chair.

"The most encouraging aspect of this armchair treatment of coronary thrombosis was the continued sense of well-being and high morale. When they were permitted to walk, there was no dizziness or weakness," the doctors tell us.

There were no complications caused by the armchair treatment. While there were 8 patients who died during the armchair treatment, there was no evidence that the chair treatment was responsible for these deaths. "The prompt improvement shown by some of those desperately ill with congestive heart failure after being placed in a chair was particularly impressive."

The results obtained by the armchair method means that other physicians will give this method a trial and we will obtain further information thereon. Certainly a patient sitting up in a chair naturally has less anxiety about his illness than if confined to bed. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

An Explanation of Those Washington Saucers

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DR. W. PEARSON

Washington—During the early days of the long-drawn-out steel strike negotiations, Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg was urging that the crisis be solved by giving the steel industry a price increase. She wanted to know why this wasn't practicable.

"You can increase prices all right," replied Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall. "You can increase 'em if you want to wreck the country."

Last week steel prices were increased as a "bribe" to the steel industry, and as a result, Mr. Truman is going to have to get himself a new price administrator.

Arnall will carry out his threat without shouting or bombast—in fact, just as softly as he gave his reply to Assistant Secretary Rosenberg. He doesn't blame the President for caving in to the steel companies in view of the desperate arms situation, and he doesn't want to embarrass anyone. Nevertheless, Arnall has concluded that you can't control prices, if you yield every time you get in a tight corner.

Under the present law there are just two things left for the price administrator to do. Arnall told a friend recently, "If the price is too low he can remove a commodity from price control, or if the price is too high, he can cave in."

Arnall is tired of caving in as a result of pressure from above, so about the end of the summer he will unobtrusively go back to Georgia.

Washington Pipeline
The person who has more influence on Harry Truman than anyone else, told him just before the convention that she would not be too much opposed if he ran again. Hitherto Bess Truman had been one of the chief reasons why HST hadn't wanted to run. Another was daughter Margaret.

Mrs. India Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, received an offer from the Eisenhower camp to come over to the Republicans. She declined. She wasn't interested personally, and besides, the Republicans didn't even give the ladies a nominating speech for the vice presidency, whereas the other way, Symington found himself working under Wilson, the man he appointed. Wilson got the White House to issue an executive order making Symington his subordinate.

The President probably didn't realize that he had undercut his own man. The deal was put across by subordinates. Anyway, he later shifted Symington over to clean up the RFC scandals and this was where Symington made his political error.

He let the chips fall where they may. When the Senate wanted information on such sensitive matters as Donald Dawson, a former RFC official now working at the White House; and on the President's private stenographer, Mrs. Carl Young of mink-coat fame, Symington released the true facts.

It was then that White House aides began gunning for him. The nickname for him was "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Symington, they implied, was too pure to be influenced by the palace guard, and Truman undoubtedly was affected by the constant anti-Symington pin-pricking of the Dawsons, the Connellys, and the Vaughans.

It will be interesting to see what happens if and when Symington comes back to Washington next fall as a full-fledged Senator from Missouri.

Capital Chaff
Senator Kefauver has gone down to a Tennessee farm where he is swimming, relaxing, and trying to read some books. He hasn't been able to sleep at night for thinking how he could have handled his campaign differently—and, if so, won—Secretary of State Dean Acheson was flabbergasted at Brazilian hospitality. His host at Sao Paulo, Jorge Prado, built a glass wall costing $25,000 around his garden just for the party he gave in honor of Acheson. The wall was to permit guests to enjoy the garden while the public was kept out.

Kefauver is going to the support of his old friend, Gov. Gordon Browning, who has been criticized by some Tennesseans for voting against the seating of Virginia unless Virginia took the loyalty oath.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Aug. 1—Members of the Olive Memorial Post, 1627, will pick up articles for the post auction during the next three weeks. The collectors the first Saturday of August will concentrate on the villages of Shokan, Ashokan and Boiceville. Oliveites are urged to clean their cellars and attics for the benefit of a good cause, and most any saleable contribution will be appreciated by the veterans for their sale which is scheduled to take place August 23 at the Olive town garage on the Bushkill Road.

Local events during early August include the annual Reformed Church fair and supper, Wednesday afternoon and evening, Aug. 6. Members of the Ladies' Aid will have booths and tables featuring fancy articles, rugs and quilts, and so forth, together with children's and refreshment booths. The usual cafeteria supper in the church basement will begin at 5:30 o'clock.

Richard Winchell Port Ewen War 2 veteran, who was mentioned in a recent Freeman story apropos of his promotion at the I.B.M. plant in Poughkeepsie, comes of old Olive stock on both sides of the house. The Winchells have been in the reservoir country since before the Revolutionary War, and Richard's mother, the former Ida Shaw of Shokan, is a granddaughter of James H. Shaw, local sawmill proprietor in the 1870's, and his wife who was a daughter of the Rev. William Hill, an early Methodist preacher here.

A small but enthusiastic group of local residents journeyed to the Ashokan railroad depot on a very hot Sunday afternoon to see and cheer the revived (for a day) Rip Van Winkle Flyer. Comparatively few of the assemblage, strange to relate, were persons who had lived here in days of the old Ulster & Delaware Railroad. Still, everyone had read in The Freeman about the train and all were pleased at what they saw, though of course the old timers missed the steam locomotives and the racket and deep-toned whistle that heralded their approach, back there in the good old days.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Summertime brings former Kingstonians back to their native haunts to say "Hello." Yesterday, Peggy Gannon Wright drove down with her husband and three months old son. Today, Lilly Frier Sharp, who used to have a food market on Union street drove up from Newburgh with her family to catch up on news over the past years. They have a gas station down near Newburgh. It is very difficult to answer all the questions they shoot at you, covering all the people they ever knew. Well that's life. You can move to another town, but you always remember your hometown. I can give them only one answer, "subscribing to my hometown paper, then you'll always be up on the news." When I lived and worked in New York city, I never could pass 42nd street at Times Square where they had newspapers from all the small cities of the nation. Of course I always bought a Freeman. How could I resist, and yet I was home every couple of weeks or at the most, months.

Going back a half a century to the 1902 book of the Y.M.C.A. Women's Auxiliary's Opera, which was held in the old Opera House at March 11 and 12, the advertisements always bring back memories. I see the ad of Mark Jacobs, a merchant tailor of 38 Strand, Rondout. I remember the little old gentleman who used to come in a high silk hat to the Temple Emanuel on high holidays. He was such a good looking man, the grandfather of Seamus Jacobson, who married Margie Hart, S. E. Eighth of 26 Broadway, Rondout has an ad. As you will notice, all these advertisers, in stating their address, if downtown, mention Rondout, N. Y. not Kingston, N. Y. and that was after the incorporation of the two villages, Rondout and Kingston. The downtowners still kept Rondout on their mailing and stationery addresses. Just when they started to give it up, I don't know.

No doubt old time smokers remember, Howard Myer. He had a just starting "Fine cigars Kingston, N. Y." Back in 1902 Charles J. Messinger who was called the "City Hall Grocer," also had fresh fish, clams and oysters, up at 442 Broadway. At that time Ferry street had its own business section. I see B. M. Tremper was a wholesale grocer at 36 Ferry street, of course, Rondout, N. Y. He carried "Gilt Edge" canned goods. Those were the days also when Canfield Supply Co. was in Rondout, too. They advertised they were established in 1850 and incorporated in 1892. They were at the time, manufacturers, wholesalers and retail dealers in plumbing, stoves, ranges, heaters and furnaces, also gas fitting, steam and hot water heating."

I see a large ad for W. S. Green, contractor, of 84 Clinton avenue. I wonder if he is the same one who had the job to set up the Governor Clinton Monument during the 250th Kingston Anniversary. Fischer's of 69 Strand was advertising "The best dinners, between New York and Albany." My father used to take me to Carl Fischer's and they certainly gave you plenty to eat and lots of side dishes. Carl Fischer used to walk around the tables, and if he saw someone had a healthy appetite and finished what he had on his plate, he would send the guest another helping of either the same dish or something else. Carl Fischer was a real host in those days.

New Tuition Plan

New York (AP)—A special deferred payment plan for veterans of the Korean war and for other veterans entitled to educational benefits under the new G. I. Bill of Rights will be started in September at Columbia University's Teachers College, according to Dr. Milton C. Del Manzo, college provost. They may have up to two-thirds of their tuition deferred. Under the deferred payment plan, if the year's tuition for a veteran is $600, he pays $200 in cash and the balance in installments starting six months after he leaves college.

Overpayment Penalized

New York (AP)—Four firms in the New York area that paid their employees too much, were penalized $11,217 in tax disallowances, reports the regional office of the Wage Stabilization Board. More drastic penalties would have been imposed, said a board official, had not the companies shown willingness to co-operate once their unauthorized wage schedules had been uncovered by investigators of Wage and Hour Division of the Federal Department of Labor.

Robbers Load Up

El Monte, Calif. (AP)—Officers investigated a robbery at the Wee Nippy Cafe recently. They reported the burglars took, not a wee nip, but four cases of beer and $191 from the cash register.

A VERY REAL NAME PROBLEM

A mother-to-be writes: "I am the second wife of my husband. During his first marriage he had two sons whom he never sees. His first son was named for him. I am expecting a baby very soon and if it is a boy would like to name him for my husband. Would this be proper since he already has a son named for him? If so, will he be third?"

Never having encountered this question before, I am definitely puzzled as to its correct answer. "Third" is the obvious guess—unless the present junior is old enough to marry and may claim the right to name his son "third." The inevitable situation is, of course, that your coming baby living in his father's house will undoubtedly be known to everyone as "junior" and it might be allowed to run along like that. On the other hand if he and his half-brother live in the same city the confusion will be unending. A different middle name, perhaps that of your own family, would be a happier solution.

Your Parents Announce It

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I were in a very serious accident three years ago in which he was killed instantly. Since that time I have been living with my parents, and many of the people here have been calling me by my maiden name. I am going to marry again soon and I would like to know how the announcements should be worded. Should my parents announce my marriage or should my fiancé and I announce it ourselves, and how should my name appear since many do not know my married name?

Answer: The announcement is, of course, made by your parents. But the wording, as a matter of fact, will give no information.

Mr. & Mrs. John Smith have the honor to announce the marriage of their daughter Margaret Jones

The wording cannot be "their daughter Mrs." and the invitation does not have to say "Margaret Smith Jones," therefore people are likely to suppose that your name is Miss Margaret Jones Smith.

Who pays the wedding expenses, the groom or the bride's family? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-4, "Wedding Expenses," gives a list of expenses and who pays for them. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Warns Dry Spell Could Hit Woods

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—The State Conservation Department said today the danger of forest fires in New York is "not critical," but warned that a hot, dry spell quickly could make the situation grave.

Kinne F. Williams, the department's superintendent of forest fire control, said scattered light showers had kept the hazard from becoming serious.

A prolonged drought has made woodlands in the northeastern states tinder-dry. The Northeastern Forest Fire Protection Commission has warned residents of New York and six New England states of "unusually grave" forest fire peril.

Williams said the department planned no closings of woodland unless the situation grew worse. The Weather Bureau said there was a chance of thundershowers tomorrow night in scattered sections of the state.

Polio Hits Netherlands

The Hague, The Netherlands, Aug. 2 (AP)—The government announced today that polio in The Netherlands has taken on an epidemic character. Mossadegh Gets Additional Power

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Iranian Senate today rubber-stamped unlimited powers during the next six months for Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and blasted American advisers to Iran.

The resounding vote of confidence—34 to 1—given the nation's undisputed leader by the Upper House followed similar action Thursday by the Majlis (lower house). Mossadegh now has more power than an Iranian premier ever had and a completely free hand to implement his nine-point program intended to put Iran back in the black financially.

He has promised sweeping changes in the economic, social, financial and judicial life of the country, now virtually bankrupt because of loss of oil revenues since nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company last year.

The Senate session was punctuated by attacks on American advisers. The speakers did not refer to them directly as Americans but used the term "foreign advisers," however, since the Americans are the only ones with military missions and advisers here, it was plain whom they meant.

Dr. Martin Daffari, son-in-law of the premier, after defending the government's program, told the Senate: "We do not need foreign advisers in this country."

Iran's agriculture is being aided under President Truman's point four program. U. S. military missions were established on a small scale in 1943. Its expenses are paid by the Iranian Government while the U. S. pays the salaries of the officers and men.

Cop Says He Didn't Know Bookie Who Paid

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Suspended Police Capt. James W. Flynn says he never knew the bookie who purportedly paid him $50 a month to protect Harry Gross' multi-million dollar gambling ring.

Flynn, one of 34 cops undergoing departmental trial, yesterday took the stand to refute earlier testimony that he was paid off monthly in 1948 by bookie Martin (Chink) Sherman.

Flynn denied that he ever "personally" had seen Sherman until about a week ago, when he went to the latter's home to try to get him to be a trial witness.

"This was the first time I saw Martin Sherman in my entire life," Flynn said.

The witness did not say whether Sherman agreed to testify or not. Another witness was Hyman (The Wig) Joseph, an ex-bookmaker who said he used to hide his betting slips under his toupee.

Joseph said his connection with the jailed Gross' 20 million dollar a year racket "ceased" in 1935. Later, it was brought out that Joseph was confused over the word "ceased." He said he thought "cease" meant "begin."

The trial, presided over by Third Deputy Police Commissioner James A. Deleahanty, resumes Monday.

Two Cars in Collision At Grand, TenBroeck

A 1942 sedan, operated by Augustus Winters of 99 Foxhall avenue, moving northeast on Grand street, was in collision with a 1941 sedan, driven by Louise Bonavita of 8 Cordts street, proceeding northwest on TenBroeck avenue early last night, police reported.

Police said that Mrs. Bonavita, who was driving on a learner's permit, said that she had been blinded by the sun and had failed to see a stop sign on TenBroeck avenue. Mary Bonavita of 12 Cordts street was in the car with Mrs. Bonavita, police stated.

Gertrude Winters, a passenger in the Winters' vehicle, sustained a bruised right arm, police reported. Officer William F. Hanley investigated.

Digging to Bring Fine

Cairo, Ill. (AP)—Fishermen who find Cairo's high earthen river levees are fine for digging worms will be fined, police warned. U. S. engineers said serious damage to levees could result from digging holes in them. Bait-hunting in levees breaks out anew each fishing season.

Police Have Problem At Excursion Pier

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Thousands of persons trying to board a chartered excursion boat moored about angrily last night at a Hudson river pier.

The shouting crowd which broke barriers and left the area littered with the debris of crushed lunch boxes, ripped clothing and broken hats, was brought under control without injuries by heavy emergency squads of police.

Officers said 5,700 persons attempted to board the excursion boat Peter Stuyvesant for a three-hour cruise on the river although only the capacity number of 2,700 tickets had been sold.

The vessel had been chartered by Omega Psi Phi, a Negro social organization.

The Peter Stuyvesant finally left an hour late, leaving behind some 1,000 ticket-holders and 2,000 others still milling around the 125th street pier of the Hudson River Dayline.

Hundreds of persons without tickets had managed to board the vessel, police said.

Deputy Chief Inspector William J. McQuade ordered an investigation of the handling of the tickets and said:

"Only the intelligence and general good will of the crowd kept this from turning into something ugly."

Scour Jersey Woodland For Missing Woman

Sussex, N. J., Aug. 2 (AP)—State police, volunteer firemen and national guardsmen scoured the wooded hills in nearby Vernon township last night for Mrs. Ann G. Meeker, 55, missing since she went berry-picking yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Meeker, wife of Albert Ross Meeker, president of A. R. Meeker and Co., left their summer home at Lake Wildwood about 3 p. m. and did not return. Meeker became alarmed and notified state police. The search was halted near midnight until this morning.

His firm is North Jersey distributor for a line of mimeograph duplicators and mimeograph brand products. He has served as a township committee member and member of the board of education in Millburn township where the Meekers live at 74 Whitney road, Short Hills.

Costello Lawyer Figures Three Outs

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Three possible legal moves stood today between gambler Frank Costello and an 18-month jail sentence, and his attorney says he intends to try all three in the next few days.

Costello received the sentence and a $2,000 fine for contempt of the U. S. Senate crime committee.

One legal move was exhausted yesterday when the U. S. Court of Appeals here denied the gambler's petition for re-argument of his previous appeal in the case.

George Wolf, Costello's attorney, said he now would take the following actions in Washington: File an appeal from Costello's conviction.

Ask the U. S. Supreme Court to reverse the latest Court of Appeals decision.

Seek new order for continuation of Costello's $5,000 bail pending his appeal.

U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane said yesterday that the legal steps for obtaining Costello's surrender probably would be completed sometime next week. However, Supreme Court appeal would stay execution of the sentence.

Costello was convicted for walking out and refusing to answer some questions about his finances at crime committee's hearings here in March, 1951.

Before Costello sought the re-argument of his appeal, Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson denied a plea that bail be continued pending the Supreme Court appeal.

Joy Superintendent Of Naval Academy

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 2 (AP)—Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, fresh from a year of wrangling with North Korean Reds, takes over here Monday as superintendent of the Naval Academy and commander of the Severn River Naval Command.

Joy reported yesterday for the desk job—one of the most important and sought-after in the navy. But he will not relieve Vice Adm. Harry W. Hill until the formal ceremony at 10 a. m. (EST) on the brick terrace in front of Bancroft Hall, the midshipmen's dormitory.

Hill will retire as a full admiral in the fall.

For nearly a year, Joy has been chief United Nations negotiator in Korea and prior to that served as commander of U. S. naval forces in the Far East.

A VERY REAL NAME PROBLEM

A mother-to-be writes: "I am the second wife of my husband. During his first marriage he had two sons whom he never sees. His first son was named for him. I am expecting a baby very soon and if it is a boy would like to name him for my husband. Would this be proper since he already has a son named for him? If so, will he be third?"

Never having encountered this question before, I am definitely puzzled as to the correct answer. "Third" is the obvious guess—unless the present junior is old enough to marry and may claim the right to name his son "third." The inevitable situation is, of course, that your coming baby living in his father's house will undoubtedly be known to everyone as "junior" and it might be allowed to run along like that. On the other hand, if he and his half-brother live in the same city the confusion will be unending. A different middle name, perhaps that of your own family, would be a happier solution.

Your Parents Announce It

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I were in a very serious accident three years ago in which he was killed instantly. Since that time I have been living with my parents, and many of the people here have been calling me by my maiden name. I am going to marry again soon and I would like to know how the announcements should be worded. Should my parents announce my marriage or should my fiancé and I announce it ourselves, and how should my name appear since many do not know my married name?

Answer: The announcement is, of course, made by your parents. But the wording, and the invitation does not have to say "Margaret and Mr. John Smith" but "Mr. & Mrs. John Smith" have the honor to announce the marriage of their daughter Margaret Jones etc. The wording cannot be "their daughter Margaret" and the invitation does not have to say "Margaret Smith Jones," therefore people are likely to suppose that your name is Miss Margaret Jones Smith.

Who pays the wedding expenses, the groom or the bride's family? Mr. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-4, "Wedding Expenses," gives a list of expenses and who pays for them. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Mossadegh Gets Additional Power

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Iranian Senate today rubber-stamped unlimited powers during the next six months for Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and blasted American advisers to Iran.

The resounding vote of confidence—34 to 1—given the nation's undisputed leader by the Upper House followed similar action Thursday by the Majlis (lower house). Mossadegh now has more power than any Iranian premier ever had and a completely free hand to implement his nine-point program intended to put Iran back in the black financially.

He has promised sweeping changes in the economic, social, financial and judicial life of the country, now virtually bankrupt because of loss of oil revenues since nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company last year.

The Senate session was punctuated by attacks on American advisers. The speakers did not refer to them directly as Americans but used the term "foreign advisers," however, since the Americans are the only ones with military missions and advisers here, it was plain whom they meant.

Dr. Matin Dastari, son-in-law of the premier, after defending the government's program, told the Senate: "We do not need foreign advisers in this country."

Iran's agriculture is being aided under President Truman's point four program. U. S. military missions were established on a small scale in 1943. Its expenses are paid by the Iranian Government while the U. S. pays the salaries of the officers and men.

Cop Says He Didn't Know Bookie Who Paid

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Suspended Police Capt. James W. Flynn says he never knew the bookie who purportedly paid him $50 a month to protect Harry Gross' multi-million dollar gambling ring.

Flynn, one of 34 cops undergoing departmental trial, yesterday took the stand to refute earlier testimony that he was paid off monthly in 1948 by bookie Martin (Chink) Sherman.

Flynn denied that he ever "personally" had seen Sherman until about a week ago, when he went to the latter's home to try to get him to be a trial witness.

"This was the first time I saw Martin Sherman in my entire life," Flynn said.

The witness did not say whether Sherman agreed to testify or not. Another witness was Hyman (The Wig) Joseph, an ex-bookmaker who said he used to hide his betting slips under his toupee.

Joseph said his connection with the "jaded Gross" 20 million dollar a year racket "ceased" in 1935. Later, it was brought out that Joseph was confused over the word "ceased." He said he thought "cease" meant "begin."

The trial, presided over by Third Deputy Police Commissioner James A. Delehanty, resumes Monday.

Two Cars in Collision At Grand, TenBroeck

A 1942 sedan, operated by Augustus Winters of 99 Foxhall avenue, moving northeast on Grand street, was in collision with a 1941 sedan, driven by Louise Bonavita of 8 Cordis street, proceeding northwest on TenBroeck avenue early last night, police reported.

Police said that Mrs. Bonavita, who was driving on a learner's permit, said that she had been blinded by the sun and had failed to see a stop sign on TenBroeck avenue. Mary Bonavita of 12 Cordis street was in the car with Mrs. Bonavita, police stated.

Gertrude Winters, a passenger in the Winters' vehicle, sustained a bruised right arm, police reported. Officer William F. Hanley investigated.

Police Have Problem At Excursion Pier

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Thousands of persons trying to board a chartered excursion boat milled about angrily last night at a Hudson river pier.

The shouting crowd which broke barriers and left the area littered with the debris of crushed lunch boxes, ripped clothing and broken hats, was brought under control without injuries by heavy emergency squads of police.

Officers said 5,700 persons attempted to board the excursion boat Peter Stuyvesant for a three-hour cruise on the river although only the capacity number of 2,700 tickets had been sold.

The vessel had been chartered by Omega Psi Phi, a Negro social organization.

The Peter Stuyvesant finally left an hour late, leaving behind some 1,000 ticket-holders and 2,000 others still milling around the 125th street pier of the Hudson River Dayline.

Hundreds of persons without tickets had managed to board the vessel, police said.

Deputy Chief Inspector William J. McQuade ordered an investigation of the handling of the tickets and said:

"Only the intelligence and general good will of the crowd kept this from turning into something ugly."

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

OUT OUR WAY

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.) By JUNIUS

A French marquis having received several blows with a stick, which he never thought of resenting, a friend asked him, "How he could reconcile it with his honor or to suffer them to pass without notice?" "Pooh!" replied the marquis, "I never trouble my head with anything that passes behind my back."

A woman who had just completed a first aid course saw a man lying prone in the street and was shocked that passersby callously paid no attention to him.

So she rushed up and began giving him artificial respiration. He lifted his head and roared, "Get away from me, I'm trying to get this cable threaded into this manhole!"

A French nobleman had been satirized by Voltaire and meeting the author soon after gave him a severe caning. Voltaire immediately complained to the Duke of Orleans and begged him to do him justice. "Sir," replied the duke, "you have had it done you already."

Junior--Oh, I always do a good deed every day.

Sara--That's fine--and what good deed have you done today?

Junior--Why, there was only castor oil enough for one of us this morning, so I let my little brother have it.

May we distinguish the weeds from the flowers.

When John Hay, the American statesman, appeared before a committee of prominent lawyers to be examined for admission to the Illinois bar, a member of that august body fixed a stern eye upon the young man, described in elaborate detail an extremely difficult case, and then demanded.

Examiner--Mr. Hay, what would you do if a client came to you with such a case?

Hay had not the faintest idea of what he would do, but knew it would be fatal to admit the fact.

With great promptitude he replied: Mr. Hay--I should ask for a retaining fee of fifty dollars, and tell him to call again tomorrow.

Examiner--Mr. Hay, you are admitted.

New Sign Must Wait Brantford, Ont., (AP)--A provincial inspector, spotting a newly-painted sign reading "Gao!" on the Brant County Jail, said that the proper way to spell it is "Jail."

Maj. Sidney Rogers, jail governor, said it would probably remain "Gao!" until they get another prisoner who can paint signs. The man who did the present sign was released recently.

A French marquis having received several blows with a stick, which he never thought of resenting, a friend asked him, "How he could reconcile it with his honor to suffer them to pass without notice?" "Pooh!" replied the marquis, "I never trouble my head with anything that passes behind my back."

A woman who had just completed a first aid course saw a man lying prone in the street and was shocked that passersby callously paid no attention to him.

So she rushed up and began giving him artificial respiration. He lifted his head and roared, "Get away from me. I'm trying to get this cable threaded into this manhole!"

A French nobleman had been satirized by Voltaire and meeting the author soon after gave him a severe caning. Voltaire immediately complained to the Duke of Orleans and begged him to do him justice. "Sir," replied the duke, "you have had it done you already."

Junior—Oh, I always do a good deed every day.

Sara—That's fine and what good deed have you done today?

Junior—Why, there was only castor oil enough for one of us this morning, so I let my little brother have it.

May we distinguish the weeds from the flowers.

Rookie Jim (Dusty) Rhodes

looks like the man the New York

Giants have been waiting for since Willie Mays marched off to the army. With seven home runs in 10 games at the Polo Grounds, the Nashville grad gives Manager Leo Durocher needed strength in the outfield to help the club's latest drive on the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

With Rhodes a fixture in left,

and Monte Irvin back in right field, Durocher made the final move to tighten his outer defense last night when he shifted Bobby

Thomson from third base to center field. Hank Thompson moved from center back to his old third base job.

The Bobby Thomson-Hank

Thompson shakeup didn't click when Durocher tried desperately to fill the hole left by Mays on the June western swing. Hank floundered at third, prompting

Leo to restore his "regular" infield.

Leo's latest "operation shake-well" produced the desired result.

Irvin, making his first appearance in the starting lineup since he broke his right ankle in a spring exhibition, drove home the first run in a four-run explosion against Pittsburgh's Harry Fisher, in the first inning. Rhodes smashed a three-run homer and the Giants were off and running.

en route to a 7-3 victory.

The Giants, who have missed many chances to gain on Brooklyn during the past week, picked up a full game when the Dodgers lost to Chicago, 6-1. New York now trails by five games.

Rush Beats Roe

Preacher Roe lost after seven straight 1952 wins, bowing to Bob

Rush.

The Cubs chased "The Preacher" in the fifth when they ran their lead to 3-0. Hank Sauer's 26th seventh game off rookie Ray

Moore, just up from St. Paul.

St. Louis slugged a parade of Philadelphia pitchers for 14 hits and a 10-5 decision to end the Phil's six-game win string. Four runs in a ninth-inning spur included triples by Stan Musial and Solly Hemus and a two-run homer by Enos Slaughter nailed down the win.

Max Surkont threw two wild pitches to batter Andy Seminick in the ninth to give Cincinnati the first run of the ball game.

Eddie Pelligrini's single scored the second to make it 2-0 for the Cubs.

S. Martenson of Sweden was leading the field after six laps and there were no Americans in competition.

Moving into the last day, with four swimming and diving titles to be decided along with titles in several team sports, Russia held a 24 1/2 point lead in the overall team scoring. But it was doubtful that the Russians could hold off the fast-climbing United States team in this unofficial but highly interesting competition.

The top four teams get into action this afternoon with Hungary expected to finish on top and the United States possibly third but more likely fourth.

The only other event on this morning was the gruelling cycling road race, with individual and team titles at stake. It is an affair of slightly more than 120 miles.

After about one third of the race had been completed about a dozen riders already had dropped out.

The withdrawals included two of the four Japanese riders, thus eliminating Japan from the team championship.

Chile Places Fifth in Olympic Basketball

Helsinki, Aug. 2 (AP)—Chile captured fifth place in the Olympic basketball tournament today and Holland took fifth and Belgium sixth in water polo.

Those were the most significant developments of a light morning of competition that served merely to clear the way for the big things this afternoon in the last day of major competitions in the 15th Olympic games.

The scrappy Chilean basketball team upset Brazil 58 to 49 reversing the decision of their earlier meeting that dropped the favored Brazilians into sixth place.

In water polo, Holland overwhelmed Spain 7-1 and Belgium splashed to an unexpected 3-3 tie in a pair of games for teams in the losers bracket. Thus Holland took fifth place, Belgium sixth, Russia seventh and Spain eighth, shutting Russia out of a possible point in the unofficial over-all team scoring.

The top four teams get into action this afternoon with Hungary expected to finish on top and the United States possibly third but more likely fourth.

The only other event on this morning was the gruelling cycling road race, with individual and team titles at stake. It is an affair of slightly more than 120 miles. After about one third of the race had been completed about a dozen riders already had dropped out. The withdrawals included two of the four Japanese riders, thus eliminating Japan from the team championship.

S. Martensson of Sweden was leading the field after six laps and there were no Americans in contention.

Police Create Deadlock by Winning 6-2

Bruce Bechtold Hurls Five-Hitter, Fans 10

Bruce Bechtold tossed a five-hitter with 10 strikeouts to lead the Police nine to a 6-2 victory over the Rotary in yesterday's Fraternal Youth League action at municipal stadium.

The Rotary setback created a tie between them and the American Legion with three wins and one loss apiece. The league leaders are scheduled to clash next Friday.

Snead at Peak in All-American

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP)—"Sam Snead is like a race horse in a field of plough horses," said Buck White, the sage of Greenwood, Miss., who has been playing golf as a pro for 27 years.

"Yep, that Snead is the greatest player in the world," he continued as head of the court in Tam O'Shanter locker rooms.

"That isn't saying he's the best golfer—there's a difference—he's a pro for 27 years."

"But nobody has as sweet a swing as Snead. And all this stuff you hear about him being a bad putter is newspaper talk—he's as good as there is."

Snead required 32 putts yesterday but still fired a remarkable 65, seven under par, to leap in front by five strokes at the 36-hole juncture of the $30,000 all-American tournament.

He tacked his 65 on to an opening 67 for a 132 total to keep up a pace that could shatter the record of Tam O'Shanter 72-hole tournament score of 269—19 under regulation—set by Byron Nelson in 1945.

Should Be a Par 1

Centralia, Ill. (AP)—Despite a water hazard, the Benton, Ill., Country Club's No. 7 hole has been a cinch for Lou Applegate. Playing in different foursomes, he made a hole-in-one there one Sunday and duplicated the feat a few Sundays later.

Two Straight Shutouts

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Roger Howard, recently signed by the Chicago White Sox, hurled two straight 1-0 games for Michigan State in Big Ten games this spring. He allowed three hits in each game and had a 6-1 season record.

Two Points Saved

Detroit (AP)—Bob Miller, Detroit Lions' rookie tackle from Virginia, says his most thrilling plays happened in the same ball game. He blocked two attempts for extra points by the opposition.

August Stretch Drive Starts in City League

The August drive gets under way in the City Baseball League Sunday, with Boulevard Gulf opposing the Colonial Merchants at 6 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

Only four games have been played in the second half and the league officials are hopeful of a spell of good weather to complete the regulation schedule on time.

A pickup in spectator interest has heartened the officials who see the month of August as the league's most profitable one from a financial standpoint.

Sunday's opponents have one loss between them for the second round. Boulevard Gulf dropped its only start, while the Merchants have no record to date.

George Magley is the probable Boulevard choice, with Angie

More Olympic Swimming Champs

Helsinki, Aug. 2 (AP)—Olympic champions crowned yesterday (Friday):

Swimming

Men's 100-meter backstroke—Yoshinobu Oyokawa, United States (Honolulu) 1:05.4. (New Olympic record. Old record of 1:05.7 set by Oyokawa in semi-finals.)

Women's 400-meter relay—Hungary, 4:24.4. (New Olympic record. Old record of 4:28.1 set by United States in preliminaries; also world record. Old mark 4:27.2 by Hungary in 1952.)

Men's high dive—Sammy Lee, United States (Fresno, Calif.) 156.28 points.

Fencing

Sabre—Paul Kovacs, Hungary.

Ace Southpaw Gives Only Five Safeties

Slick little southpaw that he is, the KAA's Glenn Newell maintained the pitching supremacy of the District 3 Little League tournament by stopping the Poughkeepsie Nationals, 4 to 2, on a brilliant five-hitter.

While nearly 1,000 spectators looked on—by far the largest turnout of the playoffs—Newell was balked in his bid for a shutout by two unearned runs. He walked two and struck out three.

Both of the Poughkeepsie runners who scored reached base on errors.

The victory put Kingston into the semi-finals against the powerful Queen City nine of Poughkeepsie next Tuesday.

See Sedgman Turning Pro

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—He won't say so in so many words, but Frank Sedgman is a cinch to turn professional after one more defense of the Davis Cup.

The U. S. and Wimbledon tennis champion, who hails from Melbourne, down under, yesterday admitted he wasn't dedicated to amateurism as he and Vic Seixas knocked over a few rivals in the doubles sector of the Meadow Club Invitation tournament.

"I just haven't made up my mind," said Sedgman. "Let's wait and see what happens."

Sedgman will be ready to grab a few extra dollars next year. The $12,000 he received as a wedding gift from Australian fans is getting mighty thin. Most of it went to buy a new gasoline station in Melbourne.

Sedgman, now 24 and married six months, has one burning ambition. He wants to add the U. S. and Australian crowns to his Wimbledon success. That would give him a grass-court sweep and build up his price in the pro realm.

Kroll Hits His Goal

Chicago (AP)—Ted Kroll, golfer from New Hartford, N. Y., is making ends meet, thank you. Kroll last spring said "a pro golfer would have to win between $10,000 and $12,000 on tour to make it worth while."

Kroll recently passed the $10,000 mark in earnings for the year when he finished ninth to gain $400 in the Canadian Open. Kroll is the fourth male golfer to pass that figure this year. The others have been Cary Middlecoff, the leader, Jack Burke, Jr., and Lloyd Mangrum.

Boulevard - Merchant Game Slated Sunday

Fondino, the Merchant ace as his opponent.

The team race finds Jones Dairy with designs on a clean sweep of both halves. Their recent triumph over Wiltwyck Motors was significant, following in the wake of their recent conquest of the Motormen in a 9-inning first round playoff.

From here on out it looks like the pack chasing the Dairy men.

Think Escapees May Be Murderers

Springfield, Vt., Aug. 2 (AP)—Two men police say may be the desperado escapees from the state prison invaded a farm home early today killing a middle-aged woman and severely injuring her husband.

Mrs. Donald Weatherup, about 52, died at Springfield Hospital of head wounds a few hours after she was admitted.

Her husband, about the same age, is in the same hospital suffering head and body wounds.

The two men gained entrance by smashing down the rear kitchen door while the Weatherups were in bed. Weatherup was beaten up when he went downstairs to investigate the noise.

His wife was beaten up a few minutes later. Police found her sprawled in the bathroom with her head hanging over the bathtub. The husband was in the kitchen.

Police said the attackers might have been Donald Demag, 29, of Burlington, who was serving a life term, and Francis Blair, 31, of Fitchburg, Mass.

They broke prison last Wednesday morning by crashing a heavy truck through the prison gates.

Regular courts and judges existed in Ireland from prehistoric times.

Church Has Plans

uptown section by the old Kingston Water Company, of which James G. Lindsey was president. The exact date the mains were laid was not immediately available, but was believed to be sometime near 1880. After that time, it has been pointed out, the old wells and fire cisterns fell out of use and gradually were covered over. Several of the cisterns, still intact, were discovered with in the past decade during street reconstruction in the city.

Discovery of the well in the churchyard came after Miss Margaret Killmore of 863 Park Avenue, New York, a descendant of the Hardenburghs, recently ordered the memorial relaid so as to preserve it.

Byrne Memorials, of Broadway, undertook the task under the direction of David M. Byrne. It was that firm which made the discovery. The memorial was relaid on Thursday in a location close to its original, but clear of the well so that the latter can be restored. The well is located just to the right of the walk leading from Main street to the main entrance of the church.

several shots. He and his companion leaped from the car and fled.

Hopkins staggered from the car, crossed the street, and fell dead of a bullet wound in the chest.

Under McCullough's car police found a revolver with a .22-caliber barrel of a .38-caliber frame.

McCullough is a warehouse superintendent and his son-in-law worked for him. Hopkins and his wife, Rose, had been married two years.

State Hospital for the criminally insane at Beacon, N. Y.

The hospital said the escapees were Bernard Hubbard, 25, a Brooklyn Negro, and William Bertolino, 18, of East Meadow, Long Island.

Hubbard had a record of arrests for burglary, robbery, and assault. They escaped from the hospital by an attic window, stole a car and headed for New York.

A spokesman at Mattewan said the escapees were "psychopathic but not homicidal."

Clark Is Convicted Of Assaulting Pearson

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Attorney Charles Patrick Clark was convicted in Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of assaulting columnist Drew Pearson in a two-punch fracas here June 18.

The jury reached its verdict in 36 minutes after a two-day trial in which Clark, whose clients include the Spanish Government, pleaded self defense.

Sentencing was deferred until Tuesday. The maximum penalty for assault is a year in jail and $500 fine.

Pearson testified Clark, without warning, hit him in the neck as he was leaving the Mayflower Hotel dining room. Other witnesses said another punch grazed Pearson's shoulder.

Clark testified he hadn't intended to hit Pearson, who had written critically of Clark's activity on behalf of the Spanish Government, but the columnist made a belligerent gesture. Pearson said he didn't raise his hands.

Clark said in his testimony that "Mr. Pearson to me is like the red flag in front of the bull."

Boy Rides Bicycle Into Open Car Door

Paul Coles of Eddyville, a driver for Roca's Taxi Service, opened the door of his taxi in front of the Governor Clinton Hotel at 1:15 p. m. yesterday, police reported, and a 12-year-old boy ran into it with his bicycle.

Police said that Richard Justus of 192 Ten Broeck avenue received an injured right hand and was taken to Kingston Hospital by William Gruner of Highland. He was treated at the hospital and dismissed.

It's Art, Strippers Say

San Francisco, Aug. 2 (AP)—San Francisco's burlesque queens got the word today—it's okay to strip down but just one "bump or grind" and it's off to the clink. Police Chief Michael Gaffney, angry at reports of lewdness in some burlesque houses, issued the directive following police raids on two theatres Thursday. Fourteen strippers, caught in the net, indignantly denied in municipal court their acts were "suggestive enough to keep the customers goggle-eyed." It's art, they said, and pleaded innocent to charges of giving lewd performances. The case comes up next week. A full house is expected.

Montreal Jail Riot, 12 Injured

Montreal, Aug. 2 (AP)—Police used tear gas and gunfire early today to quell a riot of hundreds of prisoners in Montreal's Boreau jail. It was the third disorder in the prison in three months, and like the others was in protest over food.

At least 12 prisoners were injured, two of them by gunfire, the Chief Emile Drapeau of the Montreal Fire Department, which was called in to help smash the rioting, was treated in a hospital for injuries he reportedly suffered when a prisoner struck him with an iron bar.

Police officials, still refusing to disclose details of what went on inside the prison, denied published reports of one of two gunshot victims had died. The police said they fired pistols over the heads of the rioters, and it was not immediately clear whether the two victims got accidental direct hits or were hit by ricocheting bullets.

700 Bolt From Cells
An estimated 700 convicts broke out of their cell blocks early last night, set 17 fires, looted the prison canteen, broke plumbing to flood the floors and then clashed with 200 police in a bloody battle in the main prison courtyard.

The police managed to drive the rioters back into their cell blocks—but only temporarily. The convicts—some awaiting trial for murder but the rest serving terms of only two years or less—smashed the main lock of the cell blocks and spilled back into the yard to yell and taunt the police.

Aware the broken locks made it impossible to keep the convicts behind bars for the night, the police stood by and allowed the prisoners to blow off steam. Quiet finally was restored shortly after midnight and the prisoners bunked down as best they could, many in the prison yard.

Thieves Steal $12,000 Taking Safe and All

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Four strong thieves, working coolly in daylight, carted a one-ton safe containing $12,000 in cash, checks and bonds from a Brooklyn service station today.

The four strolled into the Franklin Gasoline Service Station at 6423 Fort Hamilton Parkway about 5:30 a. m. Two poked pistols at an attendant, Eli Morrison, and locked him in a washroom.

They broke into a locked office and spent about 45 minutes of groaning effort in getting the one-ton safe out of the service station. Police theorized that they carted it away on a truck.

"I can't believe it," exclaimed Frank Wolfe, 36, the service station owner. Some time ago it took four employees and a jack to move the safe only a few feet along the floor, he said. He told police it contained $10,000 in cash and negotiable checks and $2,000 in defense bonds.

On their way out the thieves also took $120 from a cash register.

Red Plot Revealed

Katmandu, Nepal, Aug. 2 (AP)—The government announced today 14 exiled Communist leaders trying to return from Tibet have been arrested and documents seized which reveal a Red plot for an armed revolt in this strategic buffer kingdom between India and Communist neighbors to the north. One official said the documents showed the Red scheme to take over Nepal possibly was guided and supported by the Chinese Reds, now in control of Tibet.

CHINESE ATTACKS ARE REPULSED BY INFANTRY FORCES

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 2 (AP)—United Nations infantrymen on top of Old Baldy Hill last night withstood a thunderous shelling and beat back two small Chinese counterattacks.

The Communists hurled more than 3,000 rounds of artillery and mortar shells at the embattled hill west of Chonwon on the western front.

The U. S. Eighth Army said UN troops twice shoved back 50-man Chinese attacks. Later, a huge searchlight picked up about 35 Chinese trying to sneak through their lines. A staff officer said UN artillery killed 20. Machine-guns got seven more.

Old Baldy, scene of bloody, see-saw fighting for a month, was recaptured by the allies in a 12-hour battle Friday morning. The Communists had held its crest 10 days.

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farneti said the Reds would have trouble moving supplies to Old Baldy. All heavy duty bridges on the Yokkok river on the Chinese side of Old Baldy had been washed away or knocked down by allied shells.

Fighting Is Light
Except at Old Baldy, ground fighting yesterday was relatively light. The Reds, however, stepped up their artillery and mortar bombardment of allied positions along the 153-mile battle line with the largest shelling since July 18.

They hurled 8,761 rounds in the 24 hours up to 6 p. m. last night, an increase of more than 5,000 rounds over the preceding 24 hours.

Rain and heavy clouds moved in again of much of North Korea today and the air war drew to a halt after yesterday's brief spurt.

During the week, one ally allied plane was lost—an F-80 Shooting Star to Communist ground fire, the Fifth Airforce reported. UN jets shot down three MIG jets and damaged two yesterday in the only jet battle of the week.

Seizes 200-Yard Strip Of West German Land

Ratzburg, Germany, Aug. 2 (AP)—A Soviet colonel in command of East German People's Police seized a 200-yard strip of West German territory today on the international frontier and refused a British officer's demand to evacuate it, western police reported.

The strip, 170 yards in depth, was alleged by the colonel to belong to the Russian zone. It lies along the Ratzburg-Schoenberg highway connecting Schleswig-Holstein and Soviet-occupied Mecklenburg.

The Communist police from the east, armed with rifles, marched in and took possession in broad daylight.

It was the latest in a series of land grabs by eastern police under Soviet direction since East Germany started last May to transform its frontier with West Germany into a "dead zone."

ARMY MAKES IT TOUGHER TO BECOME A SERGEANT

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—The army has made it mighty hard for a draftee private to rise beyond buck sergeant in a normal two year tour of duty.

Headquarters announced today that for personnel outside the Korean combat theatre it is lengthening the time an individual must serve in each grade before he may be promoted.

The minimum amount of service required of a private first class before he may advance to corporal is, in effect, being tripled. And a sergeant first class now may have to remain in that grade at least six times as long as formerly required, before moving up to master sergeant.

Army sources said it may take at least 28 months for the average draftee to graduate from private to sergeant, as against a possible minimum of 10 months heretofore. It would take 40 months, altogether, to go the whole way from private to master sergeant.

The reason, said the army, is that there are not enough promotions to go around. The solution is to make the new promotions that are available harder to get.

Four Are Injured In Friday Crash

Four persons were injured in a collision at Ireland Corners about 6:30 p. m. Friday, state police reported.

Troopers listed the injured, who were treated by a Wallkill physician, as:

Mary Kenning, 53, of Woodside; George Davidson, 44, Edmeston (Otsego county); Harry Midgough, 34, and Dorothy Miller, 20, both of New Lisbon.

Miss Kenning was treated for a back injury, the other three for facial lacerations, according to the state police report.

Troopers said the accident occurred at the intersection of Routes 208 and 44-55. The automobile driven by Miss Kenning was traveling east on 44-55, and the other automobile, driven by Davidson, was headed south on 208, according to the report. Midgough and Miss Miller were passengers in Davidson's vehicle, troopers said. No arrest was made.

Dies Is the Nominee
Austin, Tex., Aug. 2 (AP)—Texas' congressman-at-large will be Martin Dies of Lufkin, original chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Dies was declared the Democratic nominee, usually as good as elected in heavily Democratic Texas, yesterday by the state Democratic executive committee chairman. He said Dies would have no opponent in the second primary, Aug. 23, in view of the withdrawal of John Lee Smith of Lubbock from the race.

Salzburg, Austria, Aug. 2 (AP)—Margaret Truman skillfully ducked an Austrian newsman's attempts today to get her to compare European and American women. Think Escapees May Be Murderers

Springfield, Vt., Aug. 2 (AP)—Two men police say may be the desperado escapees from the state prison invaded a farm home early today killing a middle-aged woman and severely injuring her husband.

Mr. Donald Weatherup, about 52, died at Springfield Hospital of head wounds a few hours after she was admitted.

Her husband, about the same age, is in the same hospital suffering head and body wounds.

The two men gained entrance by smashing down the rear kitchen door while the Weatherups were in bed. Weatherup was beaten up when he went downstairs to investigate the noise. His wife was beaten up a few minutes later. Police found her sprawled in the bathroom with her head hanging over the bathtub. The husband was in the kitchen.

Police said there were bloodstains in four rooms, giving evidence the Weatherups resisted the pair or attempted to flee from them.

Police said the attackers might have been Donald Demag, 29, of Burlington, who was serving a life term, and Francis Blair, 31, of Fitchburg, Mass.

They broke prison last Wednesday morning by crashing a heavy truck through the prison gates.

Regular courts and judges existed in Ireland from prehistoric times.

Church Has Plans

uptown section by the old Kingston Water Company, of which James G. Linsley was president. The exact date the mains were laid was not immediately available, but was believed to be sometime near 1880. After that time, it has been pointed out, the old wells and fire cisterns fell out of use and gradually were covered over. Several of the cisterns, still intact, were discovered with in the past decade during street reconstruction in the city.

Discovery of the well in the churchyard came after Miss Margaret Killmore of 863 Park avenue, New York, a descendant of the Hardenburghs, recently ordered the memorial re-laid so as to preserve it.

Byrne Memorials, of Broadway, undertook the task under the direction of David M. Byrne. It was that firm which made the discovery. The memorial was re-laid on Thursday in a location close to its original, but clear of the well so that the latter can be restored. The well is located just to the right of the walk leading from Main street to the main entrance of the church.

several shots. He and his companion leaped from the car and fled.

Hopkins staggered from the car, crossed the street, and fell dead of a bullet wound in the chest.

Under McCullough's car police found a revolver with a .22-caliber barrel and a .38-caliber frame.

McCullough is a warehouse superintendent and his son-in-law worked for him. Hopkins and his wife, Rose, had been married two years.

Police Seek . . .

State Hospital for the criminally insane at Beacon, N. Y.

The hospital said the escapees were Bernard Hubbard, 25, a Brooklyn Negro, and William Bertolino, 18, of East Meadow, Long Island.

Hubbard had a record of arrests for burglary, robbery, and assault. They escaped from the hospital by an attic window, stole a car and headed for New York.

A spokesman at Mattawan said the escapees were "psychopathic but not homicidal."

Clark Is Convicted Of Assaulting Pearson

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Attorney Charles Patrick Clark was convicted in Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of assaulting columnist Drew Pearson in a two-punch fracas here June 18.

The jury reached its verdict in 36 minutes after a two-day trial in which Clark, whose clients include the Spanish Government, pleaded self defense.

Sentencing was deferred until Tuesday. The maximum penalty for assault is a year in jail and $500 fine.

Pearson testified Clark, without warning, hit him in the neck as he was leaving the Mayflower Hotel dining room. Other witnesses said another punch grazed Pearson's shoulder.

Clark testified he hadn't intended to hit Pearson, who had written critically of Clark's activity on behalf of the Spanish Government, but the columnist made a belligerent gesture. Pearson said he didn't raise his hands.

Clark said in his testimony that "Mr. Pearson to me is like the red flag in front of the bull."

Boy Rides Bicycle Into Open Car Door

Paul Coles of Eddyville, a driver for Roosa's Taxi Service, opened the door of his taxi in front of the Governor Clinton Hotel at 1:15 p. m. yesterday, police reported, and a 12-year-old boy ran into it with his bicycle.

Police said that Richard Justus of 192 Ten Broeck avenue received an injured right hand and was taken to Kingston Hospital by William Gruner of Highland. He was treated at the hospital and dismissed.

It's Art, Strippers Say

San Francisco, Aug. 2 (AP)—San Francisco's burlesque queens got the word today—it's okay to strip down but just one "bump or grind" and it's off to the clink.

Police Chief Michael Gaffney, angry at reports of lewdness in some burlesque houses, issued the directive following police raids on two theatres Thursday. Fourteen strippers, caught in the net, indignantly denied in municipal court their acts were "suggestive enough to keep the customers goggle-eyed." It's art, they said, and pleaded innocent to charges of giving lewd performances. The case comes up next week. A full house is expected.

Montreal Jail Riot, 12 Injured

Montreal, Aug. 2 (AP)—Police used tear gas and gunfire early today to quell a riot of hundreds of prisoners in Montreal's Bordeaux jail. It was the third disorder in the prison in three months, and like the others was in protest over food.

At least 12 prisoners were injured, two of them by gunfire, the Chief Emile Drapeau of the Montreal Fire Department—which was called in to help smash the mutiny—was treated in a hospital for injuries he reportedly suffered when a prisoner struck him with an iron bar.

Police officials, still refusing to disclose details of what went on inside the prison, denied published reports one of two gunshot victims had died. The police said they fired pistols over the heads of the rioters, and it was not immediately clear whether the two victims got accidental direct hits or were hit by ricocheting bullets.

700 Bolt From Cells
An estimated 700 convicts broke out of their cell blocks early last night, set 17 fires, looted the prison canteen, broke plumbing to flood the floors and then clashed with 200 police in a bloody battle in the main prison courtyard.

The police managed to drive the rioters back into their cell blocks—but only temporarily. The convicts—some awaiting trial for murder but the rest serving terms of only two years or less—smashed the main lock of the cell blocks and spilled back into the yard to yell and taunt the police.

Aware the broken locks made it impossible to keep the convicts behind bars for the night, the police stood by and allowed the prisoners to blow off steam. Quiet finally was restored shortly after midnight and the prisoners bunked down as best they could, many in the prison yard.

Thieves Steal $12,000 Taking Safe and All

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Four strong thieves, working coolly in daylight, carted a one-ton safe containing $12,000 in cash, checks and bonds from a Brooklyn service station today.

The four strolled into the Franklin Gasoline Service Station at 6423 Fort Hamilton Parkway about 5:30 a. m. Two poked pistols at an attendant, Eli Morrison, 47, and locked him in a washroom.

They broke into a locked office and spent about 45 minutes of groaning effort in getting the one-ton safe out of the service station. Police theorized that they carted it away on a truck.

"I can't believe it," exclaimed Frank Wolfe, 36, the service station owner. Some time ago it took four employees and a jack to move the safe only a few feet along the floor, he said. He told police it contained $10,000 in cash and negotiable checks and $2,000 in defense bonds.

On their way out the thieves also took $120 from a cash register.

Red Plot Revealed

Katmandu, Nepal, Aug. 2 (AP)—The government announced today 14 exiled Communist leaders trying to return from Tibet have been arrested and documents seized which reveal a Red plot for an armed revolt in this strategic buffer kingdom between India and Communist neighbors to the north. One official said the documents showed the Red scheme to take over Nepal possibly was guided and supported by the Chinese Reds, now in control of Tibet.

Chinese Attacks Are Repulsed by Infantry Forces

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 2 (AP)—United Nations infantrymen on top of Old Baldy Hill last night withstood a thunderous shelling and beat back two small Chinese counterattacks.

The Communists hurled more than 3,000 rounds of artillery and mortar shells at the embattled hill west of Chorwon on the western front.

The U. S. Eighth Army said UN troops twice shoved back 50-man Chinese attacks. Later, a huge searchlight picked up about 35 Chinese trying to sneak through their lines. A staff officer said UN artillery killed 20. Machine-guns got seven more.

Old Baldy, scene of bloody, see-saw fighting for a month, was recaptured by the allies in a 12-hour battle Friday morning. The Communists had held its crest 10 days.

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farnett said the Reds would have trouble moving supplies toward Old Baldy. All heavy duty bridges on the Yolkok river on the Chinese side of Old Baldy had been washed away or knocked down by allied shells.

Fighting Is Light
Except at Old Baldy, ground fighting yesterday was relatively light. The Reds, however, stepped up their artillery and mortar bombardment of allied positions along the 155-mile battle line with the largest shelling since July 18.

They hurled 8,761 rounds in the 24 hours up to 6 p. m. last night, an increase of more than 5,000 rounds over the preceding 24 hours.

Rain and heavy clouds moved in again on much of North Korea today and the air war drew to a halt after yesterday's brief spurt.

During the week, only one allied plane was lost—an F-80 Shooting Star to Communist ground fire, the Fifth Airforce reported. UN jets shot down three MIG jets and damaged two yesterday in the only jet battle of the week.

Seizes 200-Yard Strip Of West German Land

Ratzburg, Germany, Aug. 2 (AP)—A Soviet colonel in command of East Germany People's Police seized a 200-yard strip of West German territory today on the international frontier and refused a British officer's demand to evacuate it, western police reported.

The strip, 170 yards in depth, was alleged by the colonel to belong to the Russian zone. It lies along the Ratzburg-Schoenberg highway connecting Schleswig-Holstein and Soviet-occupied Mecklenburg.

The Communist police from the east, armed with rifles, marched in and took possession in broad daylight.

It was the latest in a series of land grabs by eastern police under Soviet direction since East Germany started last May to transform its frontier with West Germany into a "dead zone."

Attacks Stepped Up In Poland on Reds

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 2 (AP)—Anti-Communist partisans in East Poland have stepped up their attacks on Russian troops and transports, the West German government's official bulletin said today. The bulletin attributed its information to reports from refugees, confirmed by officials of the East German Railways System.

Wounded Soviet soldiers are being removed daily from trains arriving in the East German city of Frankfurt-on-the-Oder, it stated, and railway cars which have been heavily damaged by weapons fire also are seen arriving there.

In an effort to prevent the partisan attacks, only politically reliable railroad men are being assigned to trains traveling between Eastern Germany and the Soviet Union, the bulletin said. They are ordered to maintain strict silence on all rail movements.

Difference Said To Be Good Thing On Civil Rights

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—One of the architects of the Democratic platform said today it's probably a good thing that northern and southern Democrats contend the new civil rights plan means different things.

"That's all right with me as long as they all vote right in November," Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island told a reporter.

Despite mounting Dixie-Yankee disputes about just what the civil rights plank pledges, Green said the compromise should eliminate any bolt by southern states similar to the 1948 defection.

Green, oldest senator—he will be 85 on October 2—was one of the 19 members of the preliminary platform drafting committee that worked day and night at Chicago. The civil rights section promised continued Democratic activity in the field of racial relations to eliminate discrimination in political rights, employment and other fields.

A separate section pledged improvement of congressional procedures so that a minority could not obstruct legislation in either the Senate or House.

Conflicting Views

Since the convention action, southern and northern Democrats have used the words of the platform as a mirror for their conflicting views.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, in announcing his support for a straight Democratic ticket this fall, said the new civil rights plank "is less threatening to the southern viewpoint than the 1948 plank."

Other southerners say flatly that the new plank, is weaker than the 1948 pledge, which caused a convention walkout of Dixie delegates and loss of 39 electoral votes for President Truman four years ago.

Sens. Blair Moody of Michigan, Herbert H. Lehman of New York and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and other northern Democrats insist the new platform is much stronger.

They argue that the pledge to improve congressional lawmaking machinery amounts to a promise to end Senate filibusters, or at least try to change Senate rules to accomplish this.

Sees Stronger Platform

Green, like other northerners, said the new platform on civil rights "is stronger than four years ago."

"It defines an objective," he explained by "saying that a small minority should not be able to block a majority of the Senate."

This was a reference to filibusters, or endless debate, which often have been used to block Senate action on civil rights or other legislation.

Green, however, agreed that the exact words of the new platform may hold different meanings for different Democrats.

Tells Story on Love As Practised by Reds

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—To make him into a well-developed Communist, a former Red says, the party five times tried to get him "to move in with well-developed Communist women."

Testimony about love in the Communist party ranks was given yesterday at the conspiracy trial of 15 second-string party leaders. The witness was Louis Rosser, a Negro who once was a Communist official in Los Angeles. He appeared for the prosecution.

Rosser said that the party five times "picked a woman out for me to marry and said she was a very good Marxist and I should marry and live with her—to pick one out, that she had a lot of money, and that I was only getting five dollars a week as a member of the Young Communist League."

His present wife, Mary Lou, a Negro, was one of the recommended women, Rosser said. He testified that he lived with her for a year before their marriage in 1942.

But "I didn't marry five times like this," Rosser said under cross examination by the defense.

The 15 Communist officials are accused of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Police Report Two Visitors Hit by Car

Two vacationists who were standing on a bridge along a county road at Granite were struck and slightly injured by an automobile about 12:40 p. m. Friday, state police reported.

Molly Sarfaty, 43, of 20-59 Sixty-fifth street, Brooklyn, was discharged from Kingston Hospital Friday evening after treatment for a fractured left wrist, and Molly Kaliff, 12, of 174 Orchard street, was treated in the hospital's emergency room for a cut left leg, reports from the hospital and troopers stated.

Troopers said the automobile was driven by Michael Bacall, 42, of New York city, who was not held. The two pedestrians appeared before the driver just after he made the sharp left curve in the highway at the bridge approach, and in attempting to avoid striking them, the vehicle swerved and landed in the ditch on the other side of the small concrete bridge, the state police report indicated. The injured were taken to the hospital by Humiston's ambulance of Kerhonkson.

Girl's Garb Checked As Clue to Slayer

Oklahoma City, Aug. 2 (AP)—A young girl's blue jeans and shirt were checked minutely today in an effort to trace the identity of the revenge slaying victim.

The blood-spattered clothing was found yesterday in a pool of water beneath a South Canadian river bridge near Union City, along with the 13 or 14-year-old girl's dismembered hands and feet.

The severed head was bruised and the features distorted. Officers obtained good fingerprints, they said, but pointed out there was little hope of identification through them.

"If we don't have a record of her prints it will be impossible," said Joe Swafford, city policeman.

Nor was any progress reported in the hunt for the slayer, who carved the word "Rat" on the stomach of his victim.

The hands and head were found eight miles southwest of the rest of the body, which was found near Yukon Wednesday. Yukon is 11 miles west of here.

One clue was a deformed thumb-nail, apparently mashed at one time.

Numerous relatives of missing persons have viewed the body but could shed no light on the mystery.

Local Rail . . .

three other big operating unions, the trainmen, firemen and conductors, have received similar notices of the scheduled walkout. He said they will meet with him today and probably agree to try to delay the strike.

The strike threat, Shields said, stems from grievances over local working rules dating from 1950. A brief walkout last March shut down New York Central lines west of Buffalo.

The railroad's chief dispatcher in Buffalo said he had heard nothing of a strike threat. No strike notices had been posted last night at any of the New York Central yards in New York.

No News in Albany

In Albany, N. Y., Clifford Grimes, head of the New York Central lines east of Buffalo, also said he knew of no posted strike notices.

If there is a strike, Grimes said, it will involve 15,000 to 16,000 operating employees. He said he thought it would force a complete shutdown on the railroad's lines east of Buffalo.

Grimes said the reported threat "would be based on 300-odd issues going back to 1950 and that negotiations in March, 1951, resolved the biggest share of them."

He said the four brotherhoods broke off negotiations then "because they were under government control but they said they'd be back when they were released."

"I certainly do not believe it (a strike) is a justified move," Grimes added.

Jurors to Meet Monday Night at 8

The monthly meeting of the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association will be held at 8 p. m. Monday in the court house at which time plans will be completed for the annual picnic and other matters discussed.

A basket picnic will be held at noon Sunday, Aug. 17, at the Chester Elliott Farm, Plutarch road, one mile off Route 299 between New Paltz and Highland. Those attending should bring their own lunch and refreshments, it was said.

It was pointed out that members and friends were invited and that there were a variety of amusements for children and adults, including boating and bathing. President Thomas Murphy said that additional information could be obtained by calling Kingston 5939-J or 4771-W.

Paltz Man Hurt As Car Hits Pole

Roland Matthews, 26, of New Paltz was treated at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie early today when the automobile in which he was a passenger struck a pole along Route 32 one and a half miles south of New Paltz, state police reported.

Troopers said Matthews was riding in an automobile driven by Luther Johnston, Jr., 18, also of New Paltz, who was not reported hurt. The car was going in a southerly direction when it ran off the highway at 3:20 a. m. today and hit the pole, troopers said.

Move Indicates Stevenson Plans Picking of Aides

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 2 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson's decision moving the Democratic party's national campaign headquarters to Springfield raised speculation today the presidential nominee plans to boss pre-election strategy with hand-picked aides.

With his announcement yesterday that Wilson Wyatt of Louisville, Ky., would be his personal campaign manager, Stevenson disclosed the move of campaign headquarters from Washington here. Wyatt told newsmen this was the first time the national campaign offices would not be located in the nation's capital.

Political leaders immediately viewed the decision as one which would have Stevenson in closer contact with men of his own choosing who will run his campaign as he plans it.

A statement by Wyatt, too, appeared to bear out this theory.

"Since the campaign obviously must be directed by Gov. Stevenson, the headquarters will be here and mine will be, too," Wyatt said.

Direction of the campaign "will be from Stevenson and Springfield," Wyatt added, and there will be "close association" with the Democratic National Committee.

But from Democratic National Committee chairman, Frank McKinney, came the statement last night that he does not choose to remain in the job. It was a statement of his feelings about the post, but McKinney said he would discuss party affairs with Stevenson in about a week.

By tradition, the presidential nominee chooses the man he wants to direct the party.

Sittman Retires As Rail Worker

After 32 years with the New York Central Railroad system, Frank C. Sittman of 16 Farrelly street, Kingston, is retiring today from active service. He was for many years employed in the Kingston-Mt. Marion area by the West Shore Division and since 1940 has been clerk at the Alsen station.

Sittman began his railroading career in 1920 and was associated with the Kingston freight office. Much of his early railroad career was spent in Kingston and the area north of Kingston. Last March 23, Sittman was 73 years old. He plans to "take it easy" following his retirement today.

Born in Oberdorf, Bavaria, on March 23, 1875, he came to the United States in March 1903 and for a time worked about New York city, coming to Kingston to settle in 1906. On December 22, 1907 he married Anna Matilda Miller of Kingston. His daughter, Mrs. George Maines, resides in Kingston and her husband is employed at the freight house in Catskill.

They protested construction of the dam because it will mean they must move out. Two of their number got to talk to the President personally for about 20 minutes.

Said Mrs. Robert E. Dreith of Leonardville, when the interview was over:

"The President gave us no hope. He was thoroughly convinced the dam should be built. At the same time we have not lost any of our hope because we know the strength of the valley."

Mrs. Gaylord G. Johnson, of Cleburne, who joined Mrs. Dreith in the conference, raised the possibility of an appeal to the courts.

The women favor instead of the proposed Tuttle Creek dam a soil conservation program with series of detention dams upstream in the fertile north central Kansas valley.

Sumnerfield said after the meeting that Eisenhower, Nixon and the others present agreed unanimously that a citizen's organization "working with the regular Republican organization, would make a vital contribution to this campaign."

Sumnerfield said the "practical details of this coordination" would be worked out at another meeting today.

Green, however, agreed that the exact words of the new platform may hold different meanings for different meanings for different Democrats.

Tells Story on Love As Practised by Reds
New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—To make him into a well-developed Communist, a former Red says, the party five times tried to get him "to move in with well-developed Communist women."

Testimony about love in the Communist party ranks was given yesterday at the conspiracy trial of 15 second-string party leaders. The witness was Louis Rosser, a Negro who once was a Communist official in Los Angeles. He appeared for the prosecution.

Rosser said that the party five times "picked a woman out for me to marry and said she was a very good Marxist and I should marry and live with her—to pick one out, that she had a lot of money, and that was only getting five dollars a week as a member of the Young Communist League."

His present wife, Mary Lou, a Negro, was one of the recommended women, Rosser said. He testified that he lived with her for a year before their marriage in 1942.

But "I didn't marry five times like this," Rosser said under cross examination by the defense.

The 15 Communist officials are accused of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Police Report Two Visitors Hit by Car
Two vacationists who were standing on a bridge along a county road at Granite were struck and slightly injured by an automobile about 12:40 p. m. Friday, state police reported.

Molly Sarfaty, 43, of 20-59 Sixty-fifth street, Brooklyn, was discharged from Kingston Hospital Friday evening after treatment for a fractured left wrist, and Molly Kalif, 12, of 174 Orchard street, was treated in the hospital's emergency room for a cut left leg, reports from the hospital and troopers stated.

Troopers said the automobile was driven by Michael Bacall, 42, of New York city, who was not held. The two pedestrians appeared before the driver just after he made the sharp left curve in the highway at the bridge approach, and in attempting to avoid striking them, the vehicle swerved and landed in the ditch on the other side of the small concrete bridge, the state police report indicated. The injured were taken to the hospital by Humiston's ambulance of Kerhonkson.

Oil Agreements Revised
Beirut, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanon has quadrupled its income from foreign oil companies by quietly negotiating new agreements with the Iraq Petroleum Co. and the Trans-Arabian Pipeline. As presented to Parliament for ratification, the new agreements will increase Lebanon's annual income from oil companies from $725,143 to $2,354,571. In case neighboring countries improve their agreements with pipeline companies, Lebanon's revenue will be increased automatically in proportion.

Red Cagers Lose

Girl's Car Checked As Clue to Slayer

Oklahoma City, Aug. 2 (AP)—A young girl's blue jeans and shirt were checked minutely today in an effort to trace the identity of the revenge slaying victim.

The blood-spattered clothing was found yesterday in a pool of water beneath a South Canadian river bridge near Union City, along with the 13 or 14-year-old girl's dismembered hands and head.

The severed head was bruised and the features distorted. Officers obtained good fingerprints, they said, but pointed out there was little hope of identification through them.

"If we don't have a record of her prints it will be impossible," said Joe Swofford, city policeman.

Nor was any progress reported in the hunt for the slayer, who carved the word "Rat" on the stomach of his victim.

The hands and head were found eight miles southwest of the rest of the body, which was found near Yukon Wednesday. Yukon is 11 miles west of here.

One clue was a deformed thumbnail, apparently mashed at one time.

Numerous relatives of missing persons have viewed the body but could shed no light on the mystery.

Local Rail . . .

three other big operating unions, the trainmen, firemen and conductors, have received similar notices of the scheduled walkout. He said they will meet with him today and probably agree to try to delay the strike.

The strike threat, Shields said, stems from grievances over local working rules dating from 1950. A brief walkout last March shut down New York Central lines west of Buffalo.

The railroad chief dispatcher in Buffalo said he had heard nothing of a strike threat. No strike notices had been posted last night at any of the New York Central yards in New York.

No News in Albany
In Albany, N. Y., Clifford Grimes, head of the New York Central lines east of Buffalo, also said he knew of no posted strike notices.

If there is a strike, Grimes said, it will involve 15,000 to 16,000 operating employees. He said he thought it would force a complete shutdown on the railroad's lines east of Buffalo.

Grimes said the reported threat "would be based on 300-odd issues going back to 1950 and that negotiations in March, 1951, resolved the biggest share of them."

He said the four brotherhoods broke off negotiations then "because they were under government control but they said they'd be back when they were released."

"I certainly do not believe it (a strike) is a justified move," Grimes added.

Jurors to Meet Monday Night at 8

The monthly meeting of the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association will be held at 8 p. m. Monday in the court house at which time plans will be completed for the annual picnic and other matters discussed.

A basket picnic will be held at noon Sunday, Aug. 17, at the Chester Elliott Farm, Plutarch road, one mile off Route 299 between New Paltz and Highland. Those attending should bring their own lunch and refreshments, it was said.

It was pointed out that members and friends were invited and that there were a variety of amusements for children and adults, including boating and bathing. President Thomas Murphy said that additional information could be obtained by calling Kingston 5339-J or 4771-W.

Paltz Man Hurt As Car Hits Pole

Roland Matthews, 26, of New Paltz was treated at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie early today when the automobile in which he was a passenger struck a pole along Route 32 one and a half miles south of New Paltz, state police reported.

Troopers said Matthews was riding in an automobile driven by Luther Johnston, Jr., 18, also of New Paltz, who was not reported hurt. The car was going in a southerly direction when it ran off the highway at 3:20 a. m. today and hit the pole, troopers said.

Move Indicates Stevenson Plans Picking of Aides

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 2 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson's decision moving the Democratic party's national campaign headquarters to Springfield raised speculation today the presidential nominee plans to boss pre-election strategy with hand-picked aides.

With his announcement yesterday that Wilson Wyatt of Louisville, Ky., would be his personal campaign manager, Stevenson disclosed the move of campaign headquarters from Washington here. Wyatt told newsmen this was the first time the national campaign offices would not be located in the nation's capital.

Political leaders immediately viewed the decision as one which would have Stevenson in closer contact with men of his own choosing who will run his campaign as he plans it.

A statement by Wyatt, too, appeared to bear out this theory. "Since the campaign obviously must be directed by Gov. Stevenson, the headquarters will be here and mine will be, too," Wyatt said.

Direction of the campaign "will be from Stevenson and Springfield," Wyatt added, and there will be "close association" with the Democratic National Committee.

But from Democratic National Committee chairman, Frank McKinney, came the statement last night that he does not choose to remain in the job. It was a statement of his feelings about the post, McKinney said he would discuss party affairs with Stevenson in about a week.

By tradition, the presidential nominee chooses the man he wants to direct the party.

Sittman Retires As Rail Worker

After 32 years with the New York Central Railroad system, Frank C. Sittman of 16 Farrelly street, Kingston, is retiring today from active service. He was for many years employed in the Kingston-Mt. Marion area by the West Shore Division and since 1940 has been clerk at the Alsen station.

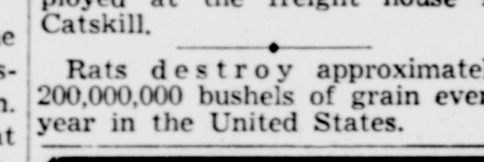

Sittman began his railroading career in 1920 and was associated with the Kingston freight office. Much of his early railroading career was spent in Kingston and the area north of Kingston. Last March 23, Sittman was 73 years old. He plans to "take it easy" following his retirement today.

Born in Oberndorf, Bavaria, on March 23, 1875, he came to the United States in March 1903 and for a time worked about New York city, coming to Kingston to settle in 1906. On December 22, 1907 he married Anna Matilda Miller of Kingston. His daughter, Mrs. George Maines, resides in Kingston and her husband is employed at the freight house in Catskill.

Truman Will Talk

program for the construction of Tuttle Creek dam.

They protested construction of the dam because it will mean they must move out. Two of their number got to talk to the President personally for about 20 minutes.

Said Mrs. Robert E. Dreith of Leonardville, when the interview was over:

"The President gave us no hope. He was thoroughly convinced the dam should be built. At the same time we have not lost any of our hope because we know the strength of the valley."

Mrs. Gaylord G. Johnson, of Cleburne, who joined Mrs. Dreith in the conference, raised the possibility of an appeal to the courts.

The women favor instead of the proposed Tuttle Creek dam a series of detention dams upstream in the fertile north central Kansas valley.

Nixon Says . . .

Citizens for Eisenhower Committee. That group played a major part in winning the nomination for the general.

On Wednesday, the committee's officers asked Eisenhower to approve their plan to give the organization equal status with the GOP National Committee—and to let it operate without much more than a nominal tieup. The citizens group—made up of self-described amateur politicians—said that under those circumstances it could rally to Eisenhower's support 10 million more voters than now are enrolled as Republicans.

Summerfield said after the meeting that Eisenhower, Nixon and the others present agreed unanimously that a citizen's organization "working with the regular Republican organization, would make a vital contribution to this campaign."

Summerfield said the "practical details of this coordination" would be worked out at another meeting today.
